DEDICATION

to the Class of 1984

WE dedicate this book to you,
The Class of 'Eighty-Four;
We'd like to say a word or two
'Bout what we're striving for.

We aim to tell you just how we,
The Class of 'Thirty-Four,
Lived, worked, and played; for thus, you see,
You'll learn of things of yore.

We hope you'll gain full many a fact,
Perhaps a good laugh, too!
Our joy and pride lies in this act,
We pass it on to you.

So turn the pages with a will;
Scan keenly every page.
Don't leave it, no, don't leave it, till
You've understood our age.

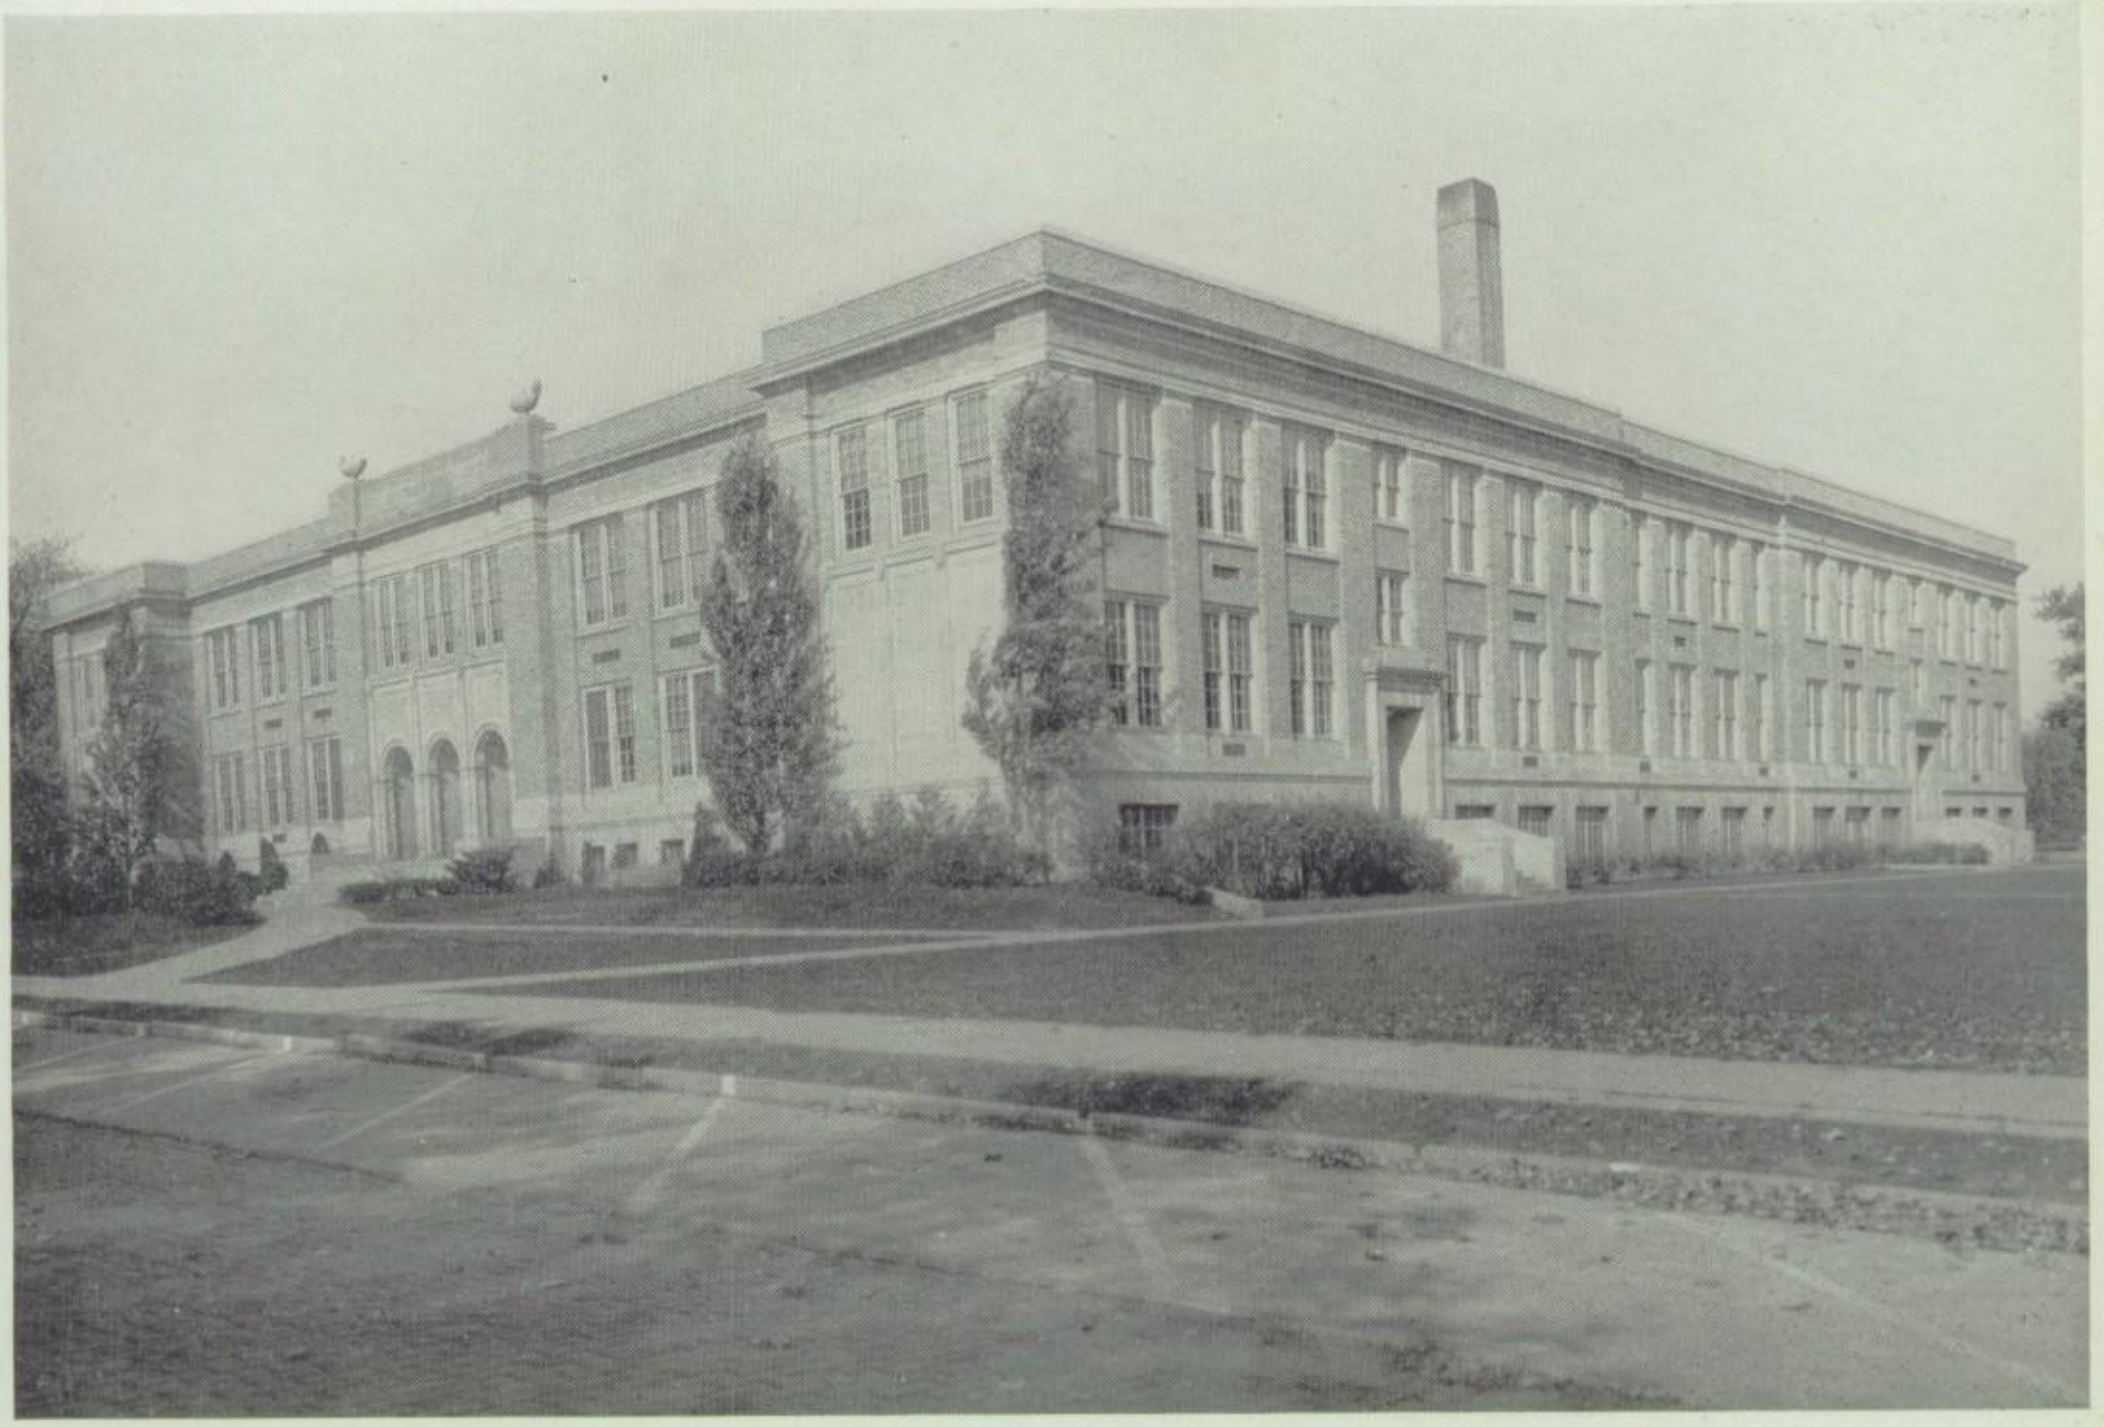
SCHOOL LIFE

EACH morning the streets of Bellevue are traversed by willing feet, as 1289 students trip happily to the five school buildings of the city. One thousand busy parents see that their sons and daughters have the correct start on the path to education. In the meantime, five jolly bus drivers bring the one hundred and fifty-six rural students to the gates of knowledge, and seven janitors and engineers have the buildings warm and clean when the pupils arrive. Forty-four teachers and administrators guide them through the day. Then once again the town resounds with merry shouts as the students wend their way homeward.

THE SCHOOL PLANT



CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL is the pride of all Bellevue citizens. Within its pleasant walls are class rooms and laboratories, a spacious auditorium, gymnasium, and swimming pool. Six years of service have left its beauty undimmed but have already filled its corridors with cherished memories and associations of the students who have studied here.

Just west of Central High stands the present JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL. Built in 1900, it gave faithful service as the senior high school until 1928. Now the seventh and eighth graders receive here the finishing touches to their elementary education. A portion of the building is also devoted to children of the first four grades.

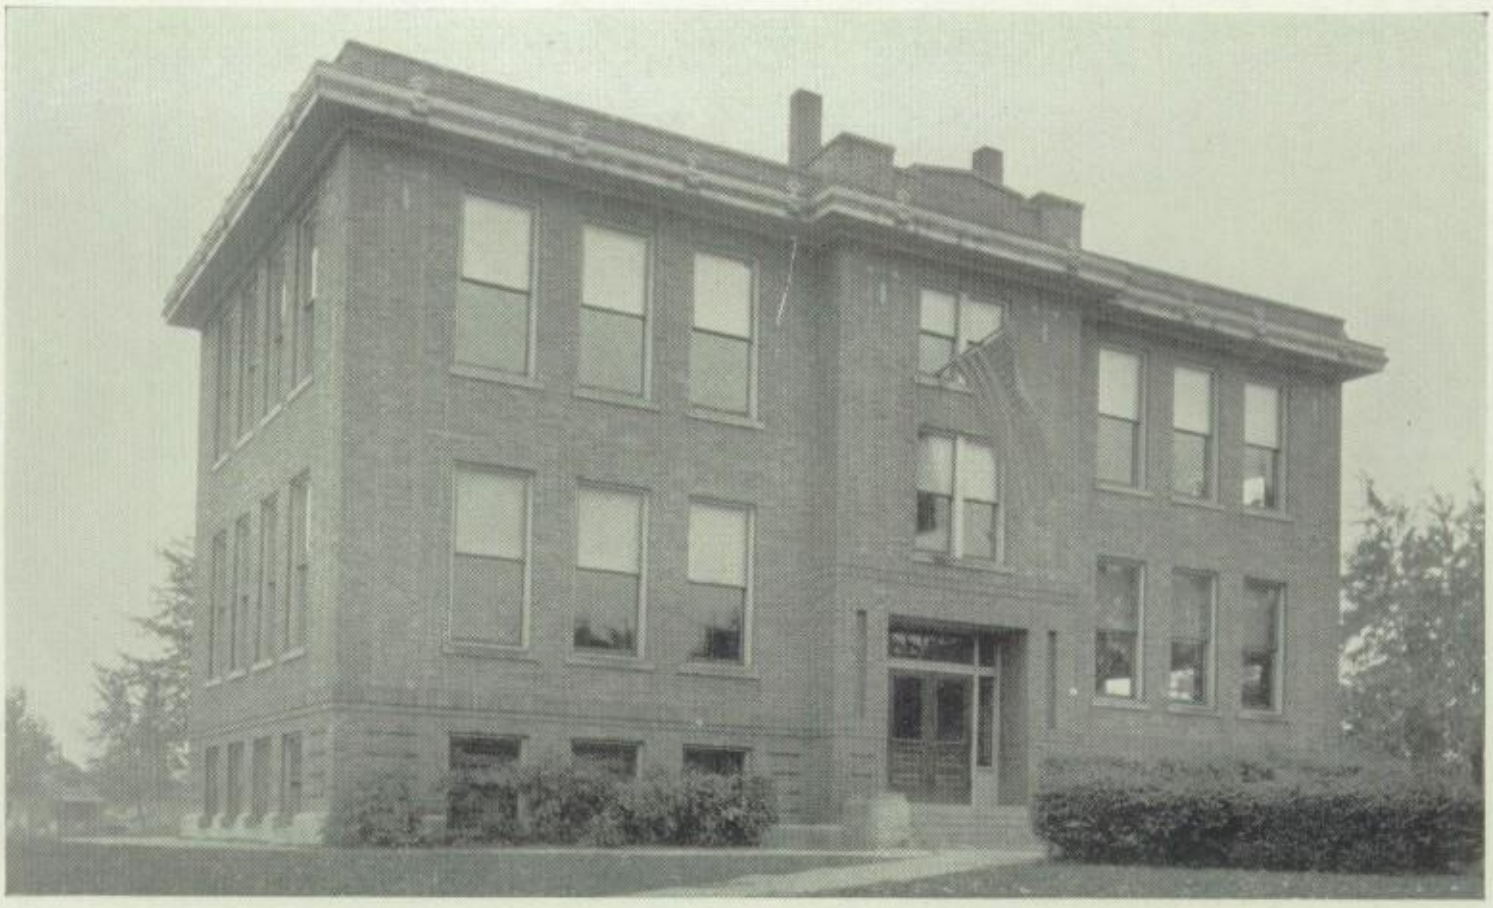
Less than a half mile away, but in another county, stands the PIKE SCHOOL. This, the largest of our grade buildings, cares for three hundred twenty-nine children. Here the pupils of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades this year for the first time enjoyed departmentalized work. In the rear, basement rooms serve as a field house for HARMON FIELD, which lies at the foot of the hill behind it. This is the scene of exciting high school athletic encounters and of summer play-ground activity. A fine running track was constructed on Harmon Field this year.



ELLIS SCHOOL, with its four airy rooms, has the distinction of having the highest elevation of any school building in Bellevue. It serves the southwest portion of the city.

Grade pupils of the eastern part of our town attend the McKIM SCHOOL, a pleasant building with capacious class rooms and an assembly room well equipped for kindergarten. P. T. A. groups are active at McKim and Ellis.

D. H. PATTON

Superintendent

MR. D. H. PATTON has just finished his second year as superintendent of the Bellevue schools. Strong and determined in action, keen and intuitive in choosing his policies, Mr. Patton has the administration running smoothly and efficiently. As the result of his efforts many new ideas and organizations have made their appearance within our schools.

A continuous and progressive program of curriculum building has been carried out under his direction. New courses have been added. Increased effort has been made to guide the individual pupil to the proper course of study, and to decrease the number of failures. Superintendent Patton was instrumental in organizing the Student Advisory Staff and the Bellevue Chapter of Girl Reserves.

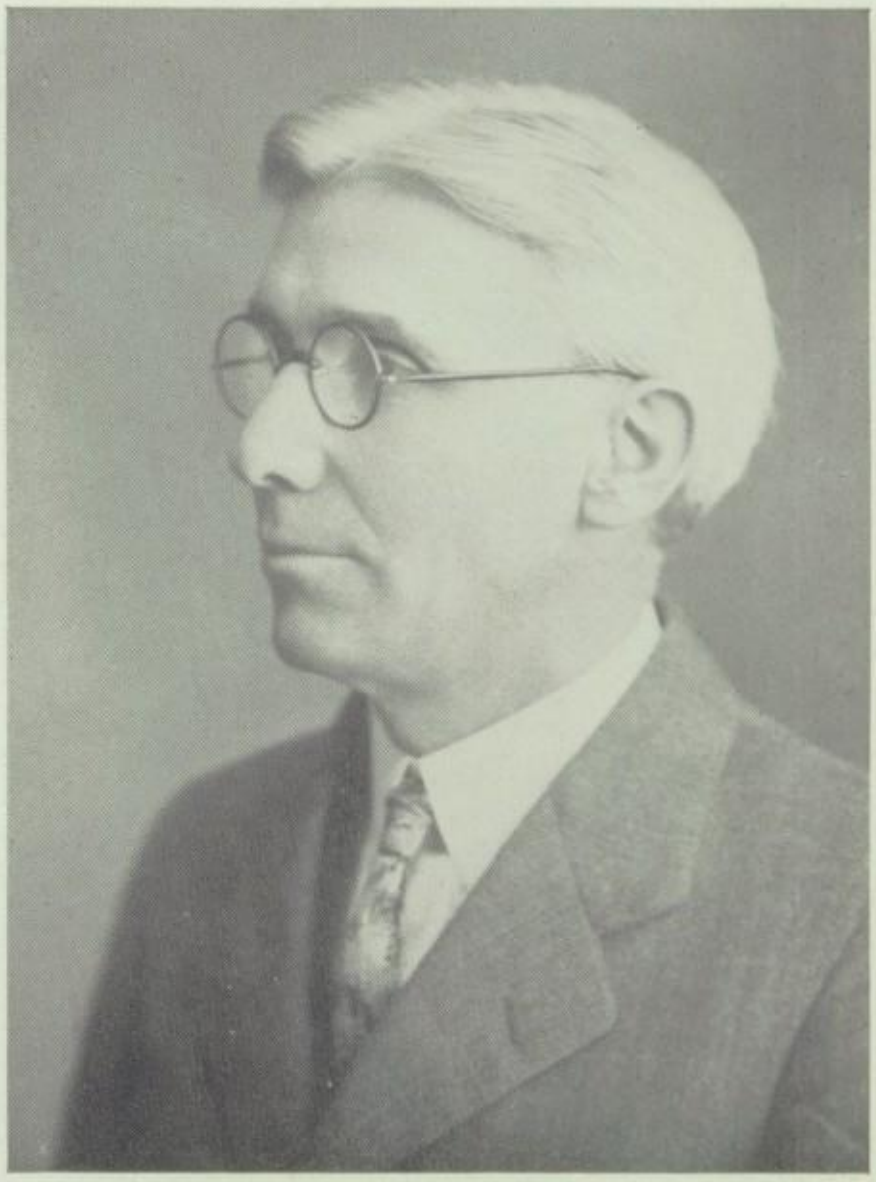
Mr. Patton has directed some of his energies to the renovation of the school buildings. Each one of the five has had extensive repairs, painting, and refinishing through the aid of the C. W. A. A number of beautiful paintings have been secured to add cheer and inspiration.

During his two years of service here the enrollment of the high school has increased to 460.

We owe much to Mr. Patton. He is always our friend, ready to act in the manner which he sees best benefits us. We feel sure that some of his wise counsel and timely advice, some of his effort to direct us, will result in our permanent contribution to posterity.

ALFRED ROSS

Principal



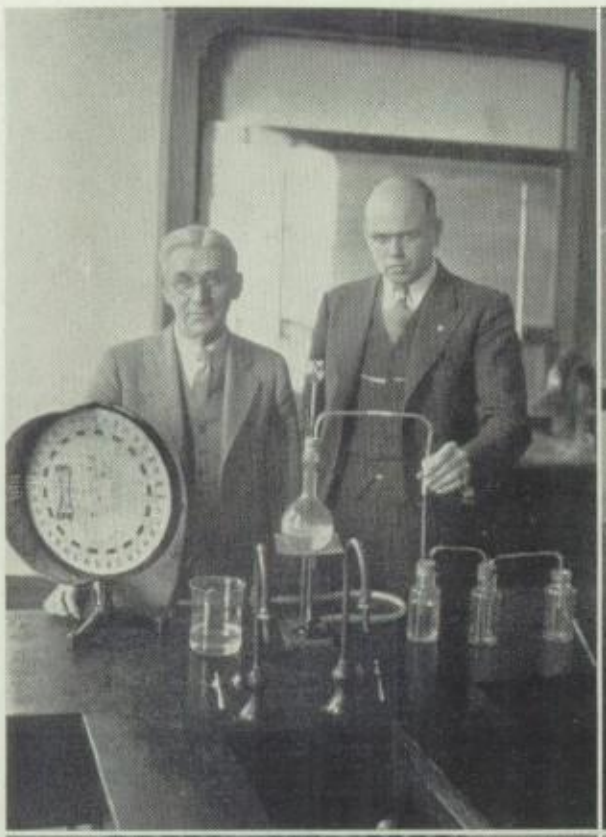
As principal of the high school Mr. Alfred Ross for a number of years has been aiding the student to find his manifest destiny in life. We all remember those visits to his office, those talks about schedules, those informal, father-like discussions of our problems, and his kindly and inspirational advice. In our science department we know his instruction has been efficient and stimulating. Surely some of the ideas and ideals we pass on to you who will follow are the fruits of Mr. Ross' earnest effort.

THE OFFICE

The office is a cheerful but busy place where work our efficient secretaries, Miss Alma Spayd and Miss Helen Euler.

FACULTY

Mr. Ross and Mr. Wolfe, scientists both, help us to build for the future.



The basic sciences did this pair endeavor to impress upon our minds — Miss Bates and Miss Yingling.

Miss Nixon and Miss Overmyer, two "smoothies" who expound the glories of our commerce.

Here you see Miss Wright and Miss Cooper, the doorkeepers of our haughty seniors' abode.

Junior High authority personified in the figure of Miss Munn.

Here's a couple that do well by those interested in the practical endeavors, Mr. Gahn and Mr. Williams.

Miss Schachtele and Miss Williams. A change of shifts, — Junior High or High School?

Mr. Haney and Mr. Hoffman, exponents of our physical demonstrations. He-men, their specialty.

FACULTY

The inseparables, Miss Shaw and Miss Barr, dispensers of comfort and sweet music. Mamie (Maybe) in the background.

Science and English seem closely allied when Miss Bell and Mrs. Huston pose for the camera.

Miss Wagner and Miss Wolf. Ouya on'tda eedna etha olutionsa ota istha. Comprendo?

Mr. Lenz and Mr. Cummins. A little mixed music? Artists are eccentric.

DEAR CLASS OF 1984,

We trust that you will not find our letter too old-fashioned. You see, it is the only way that we have of telling you something of your worthy ancestors, the juniors of '35.

We were a large class with an enrollment of 116 members. When each six weeks' period rolled around, the number of junior classmen represented on the honor roll was never insignificant and we were proud of the juniors who received the coveted honor certificates.

But we were never too studious to furnish the public with entertainment. Will anyone ever forget the Junior Dinner Dance? How gracefully the models displayed the old-fashioned styles as they paraded amid the tables! Never did the music flow so softly and enchantingly, never did the crystal ball sparkle so beautifully, as on that occasion!

On April 2 we welcomed the arrival of spring with a Spring Frolic. Smart Easter frocks amid Japanese lanterns symbolized the beauty of the season.

Then in May, in accordance with school tradition, we honored the seniors with a Junior-Senior Reception. As in a dream we danced in a modernistic world, a world which carried us away into the future.

We were energetic juniors! Class rings flashed on our fingers a year before we assumed the dignity of seniors, and thus we established a precedent for on-coming classes.

But we must not forget our athletic achievements. You doubtless have heard your grandmothers speak reminiscently of the boys who helped to form the nucleus of our varsity basketball team. What fine playing they exhibited for our enjoyment during the season, as did many other junior boys who displayed their athletic abilities in track and football!

Musicians, too, were found in the junior class. We were proud of our contribution to the band and orchestra and drum corps.

In closing let us send our best wishes for the success of your senior ventures in 1984.

Yours very truly,

THE JUNIORS.

DEAR MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1984:

Imagine yourselves in a classroom at dismissal time in the year 1934. The sophomores are all "a-thrill" with the thought of a class party. The halls are buzzing with excitement. The sound of banging locker doors reaches your excited ears. How noisy it would seem to you, whose lockers are probably silently opened and closed by an electric switch.

At seven o'clock the one hundred sophomores are seen hastening back to attend the long anticipated party, which is held in the gymnasium. I wonder, dear class of 1984, if you, too, dance and play exciting games at your class parties. Did you ever hear of a tug-of-war or a balloon race?

Another busy evening for the sphomores was the night we sponsored Pamahasika's Pets, an animal circus which had been at the "Century of Progress" in 1933. The intelligent dogs, the military-minded birds, and the comical monkey all helped to make this program a success and enabled us to pay our share of this Comet.

Perhaps you think that you in 1984 have more activities of a routine nature than we have, but you're greatly mistaken. Our classmates are represented in nearly every outside activity in our school. For instance, we have members in the Girl Reserves, Hi-Y, Dramatics Club, Science Club, swimming teams, glee club, band, orchestra, dance band, drum and bugle corps, and Comet, library, student advisory, and school news staffs. Some of our classmates have had leading parts in our high school operettas.

In athletics, too, we sophomores excel. Our high-school reserve-football team was composed chiefly of sophomore boys, and others of our class were on the basketball and track teams.

We are proud of the sophomores who rank high in scholarship. At the close of our freshman year, nine had succeeded in being on the honor roll, while twelve have earned the coveted place this year.

Are you sophomores of 1984 studying geometry, Caesar, ancient history, and English as many of us are doing? Perhaps you have been learning about some of the things that happened back in 1933, such as the C. W. A. work, the N. R. A., and the A. A. A.

We would be negligent in not mentioning our capable class advisers. We appreciate the faithful leadership of Miss Wagner, Mr. Hoffman, and Mr. Wolfe this year, and of our former freshmen advisers of last year.

All this year we have striven hard to imitate the distinguished seniors and the nonchalant juniors, and hope that the curious freshmen have received some good examples from us. We are looking forward to doing even bigger and better things for B. H. S. in the future.

Good luck to you all,

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS.

DEAR FRESHMEN OF 1984:

We, the freshmen of 1934, wish to dedicate this portion of the Comet to you freshmen of fifty years hence, for we hope that your first year in high school will prove to be as pleasant as ours has been.

Here we show you our pictures—all 135 of us. In other pages of the Comet you will find some of us included in the pictures of the Girl Reserves, Junior Hi-Y, advisory staff, football and basketball teams. So you see we have already made ourselves a part of the activities of the school.

Of course we have encountered mishaps. During the first week we happened into the wrong classrooms quite often and met with the teasing of the upperclassmen. But these were minor incidents compared to the embarrassing occurrence in the first auditorium meeting. When we arose to give our new cheer, alas, we forgot and gave our old Junior-High yell. Although a few braver ones then went through the new cheer, most of us sat down with faces rapidly turning a deep crimson. However, we never let this happen again.

The regularity of our school year was broken by a program featuring a magician, sponsored by our class. This was our means of earning our share of the expense of the Comet.

Most important to us was the freshman party. It is amusing to contrast our party with our conception of yours. Automobiles are our chief method of conveyance, while you probably arrive in airplanes. And of course the music will differ greatly. Dreamy waltzes and novel and impossible jazz tunes compose our modern music. We wonder what your music will be, because, you see, the world of 1984 is to us extremely fantastic and uncertain.

We have gone through a world-wide depression which may strengthen us mentally and morally, but we hope such a drastic cure will not be necessary for your economic ailments. Rather, we hope you will be able to reach out into the stratosphere and draw from it a cure for all economic and political illness. Perhaps you will not have to pass through such an unpleasant era, for the problem of depression should be solved by that time. If so, your school will be able to give you more and better advantages.

We also wish for you a school spirit as fine and loyal as ours, and in addition, the same co-operation between your parents and the faculty of your school as we enjoy.

Yours,

THE FRESHMEN.

Yea---Red! Yea---White!
Yea, Team!
Fight! Fight! Fight!

Yes, this is one of the many cheers Bellevue fans use to urge their teams on to victory. We freshmen thought our grandchildren of 1984 might be interested to know some of them.

The enthusiasm of Bellevue's cheering section, plus the peppy cheers, is responsible for many victories of our teams. When the luck is decidedly against us, a lusty chorus of voices floats across the field.

Fight, team, fight!
Fight, team, fight!
Victory today,
What do you say?
Fight, team, fight!

In "pep" meetings the cheer that never fails to stimulate enthusasm is:

B, B, - - - B, B, B!
L, L, - - - L, L, L!
E, E, - - - E, E, E!
U, U, - - - U, U, U!

E, E, - - - E, E, E!
L, L, - - - L, L, L!
V, V, - - - V, V, V!
E, E, - - - E, E, E!

B-E-L-L-E-V-U-E!
Bellevue ! ! !

Nothing proves school spirit more than the singing of the school song, "Stand Up and Cheer",

Stand up and cheer, cheer loud and long for dear old Bellevue,
For today we raise the red and white above the rest;
Our boys are fighting, and they are bound to win the fray.
We've got the team! We've got the steam! For this is dear old Bellevue's day!

TO THE CLASS OF 1984:

We suppose that when you read this letter, you will be much further advanced than we of the present time. However, although we may not have progressed in the way that you think of progress, we do feel that we in our day have made important strides ahead. Perhaps you will understand this when you realize that ours was the first eighth-grade basketball team that Bellevue historians have been able to record. You should have a fine Junior-High team by 1984 if basketball is still played,—I wonder, is it?

By the way, did your mothers (or are they grandmothers by now?) ever tell you about the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," given by the Junior High under the capable direction of our music teacher and the high-school dramatics instructor? It was the first to be given by the Junior High since 1929, and according to our enthusiastic audience it was a great success.

Under the Civil Works Administration we have all been made to suffer and to hold our ears, while hammer blows and paint smells have tried to outdo one another. We should not be surprised if you could still smell the paint. The building that we are now using was erected in 1900 and in its new attire is in very good condition at the present time; however, we cannot help wondering if it will still be in use fifty years from now for the same purpose that it is now filling.

Speaking of sound—the band and the newly organized bugle and drum corps have splendid representation from the eighth grade, the number being approximately twenty-five.

We have thoroughly enjoyed the many interesting and educational auditorium meetings, as well as the spirited and refreshing "pep" meetings given in the Central High Auditorium.

We are especially proud of our group of honor students. Out of our ninety-seven eighth graders we have twelve who have made the honor roll. This is a good per cent, but you should more than equal it.

What are your modes of transportation to and from school? We have various kinds, the most common probably being walking. Bicycles would probably tie for second place with the gay yellow busses that bring the twenty-six pupils from Groton and Sherman townships. Are you still walking to school, or is that a thing of the past? Doubtless, your parents have given you lessons in piloting the family airplane.

Of course, you are having all kinds of new experiences and advantages. However, after reading this letter, you will readily understand that we, who will some day be (we hope) professors, teachers, retired business men, and even government officials, are proud of our source of education in the eighth grade of Bellevue Junior High School.

Best wishes,

THE EIGHTH GRADE.

DEAR 1984,

How would you like to go back for a short period to the seventh grade of Junior High in 1934? If you could come just as a visitor, you certainly would want to stay all the time, for you couldn't resist all the nice teachers and pupils. Can't you just hear the seventh graders yelling at the top of their voices the first time they cheered in high school assembly? Didn't we feel proud to be sitting there in the balcony with the eighth graders! To think that we were in junior high and just as important as the senior-high girls and boys! We could almost feel our chests expanding in pride. You see everything was so different from grade schools that it was no wonder that we were cheering so loudly.

The privilege of attending auditorium meeting was only one of our new experiences. In the sixth grade it had been the custom for the students to remain in one room with but one teacher for all the subjects. Our new school was different because we had a special teacher for every subject, and we marched from room to room as classes changed. At first this was difficult but soon we became accustomed to it. We had six main studies besides gym and swimming, music, industrial arts, and home economics. These special subjects we had once a week. The boys and girls of the seventh grade were all striving to get on the honor roll. The requirements were four A's and no subject below B, so we were kept busy.

Then there were the football games on Saturday afternoon which were so exciting for us. And imagine basketball games on Friday nights! How the high-school band, in their red and white uniforms could play! Many seventh graders look forward to the time when they can play in the band and a few already have gained places in it.

Did your mothers or maybe grandmothers tell you about the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel"? And did you know that Hansel was a seventh grader? That certainly made the seventh grade feel proud to think one of their members took a leading part.

We guess maybe 1934 seems old-fashioned to you 1984 members but we did have such a good time that we just had to tell somebody about it and we picked out you.

Yours truly,

THE FUTURE CLASS OF 1939.

SCHOOL NEWS STAFF

The twenty-six members of the School News Staff are busy all year as editors, reporters, and typists for the Weekly Review which is published through the courtesy of the Bellevue Gazette. The staff members share responsibilty by rotating as editors of this weekly page. In addition thirty-seven other pupils have contributed some of the five hundred articles which are published in a year's time. Miss Wright and Miss Cooper serve as advisers.

The staff members as they appear in the top row of the above picture are: Quentin Smith, Richard Gahn, Charles Fehl, Eunice Swaebly, Joan Bollenbacher, Lydia Seltzer, Catherine Painter, Charlotte Seltzer, and Ardyth Kern. In the second row we see: Betty Hildebrand, Miss Wright, Lowell McMeeken, Carl Zehner, Abbott Woleslagel, Fritz Daenitz, Arnold Dahlquist, David Cramer, Violet Patton, and Miss Cooper. Seated are: Thelma Norman, Annie Marie Jones, Marguerite Seip, Eileen Kelley, Joan Bruell, Peggy Yingling, Mary Regner, Minnie Linder, and Lj Link.

DEPARTMENTAL SYSTEM NEW PLAN AT PIKE SCHOOL

EACH PUPIL TRANSFERRED TO A DIFFERENT CLASS AND DIFFERENT TEACHER.

A new item of interest in the public schools is the inauguration of a new arrangement at the Pike building. The system is the same as in junior high and high school—each pupil transferring to a different class and a different teacher. This is carried on in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades.

A recess of 10 minutes both morning and afternoon, dismissal at 3:10, and 40 minute classes, are the only differentiations from high school regulation. The teachers and their subjects follow:

Miss Warner—History and principal.
Mrs. McWilliam—Arithmetic.
Miss VanHorn—Writing and spelling.
Miss Kline—Geography.
Miss Ball—English.
Miss Bloker—Health and music.

Reading is carried on in the individual home rooms by the teachers. An interview with one of the teachers confirmed the widespread comments of approval from all the pupils and teachers of the school. The new schedule prepares the child for higher grades and new ways of learning. It endeavors to fix in his mind the need of punctuality, orderliness, and strict routine.

Short snatches of conversation with any of the boys and girls of that building brings forth their enthusiasm and keen interest in their new "departmental" system.

New General Shop Course Enrollment Is Forty-Five

This year a new course has been inaugurated at Bellevue high. This is the course in General Shop. The division is in charge of Mr. Williams, who is also the author of the manual used. The present enrollment of the course is forty-five.

The general aims of the course are as follows:

A—Mental:

1. To train a boy to know what jobs are practical for him to do in the home.
2. To develop ability to analyze construction and repair problems, and initiative to solve these problems in accordance with well established principles and approved practices.
3. To develop judgment in selecting materials and equipment.
4. To stimulate pride in work well done.
5. To get a general working knowledge of the various trades.

B—Physical:

1. To apply tool operations to all repairs and construction work, and perform all the tool operations in a workmanlike manner.
2. To care properly for all shop tools.
3. To care for all general shop materials in accordance with established principles and approved practices.
4. To read working drawings, and sketch drawings of simple projects.
5. To make out and compute cost of bills of material.

In the course so far studied the boys have taken up soldering, splicing wire, and cutting and fitting pipe.

Although history is a "thing of the past", everyone who is studying it seems to like it quite well. One of the reasons for this is the vim and vigor

MANY SCHOOL TEXT BOOKS FURNISHED PUPILS AT NO COST

Average Saving to Parents of Three and One-Half Dollars by Plan Put in Operation by School Board.

The book room of the Bellevue public schools has been a busy place this fall—busier, in fact, than in either of the other two years of its existence. Over fifteen hundred people have been served by the "store" this year. In fact, there were so many patrons during the opening days that the line of pupils and parents was often three deep.

The book room represents one of the ways in which the board of education is trying to save money for the people of Bellevue and the townships which have children in the schools. It operates wholly with the idea to serve, and makes no profits for itself.

One phase of its work is the selling of second hand books. One thousand second-hand books were sold to the students of the school this year. This service aided many students to sell books and many others to buy them.

Another phase of the work of the book room is the distribution of free books to students. Teachers played an important part in this, for on Labor day twenty-two hundred books were stamped and labeled for distribution. Four thousand books were distributed free of charge to the first six grades. Eight hundred free books were distributed to the seventh and eighth grades, making a total of forty-eight hundred books. In all twelve grades an average of fifty per cent of the texts were furnished by the school. Perhaps some do not really know that sixty per cent

October 3, Tuesday—Community Reception for Teachers.

Community Reception

Please mark Tuesday night in your book of engagements. This appointment will be for the community reception at the high school, the purpose of which is to acquaint the people of Bellevue with the teachers.

The program will begin with music by the high school orchestra, with Mr. Bellard leading the group in several songs. Following a short talk by Mayor Donaldson, Mr. Lenz will play several violin selections. After the formal introductions the guests will go to the gym floor to converse with the teachers. At the close of the entertainment refreshments will be served.

Everyone should attend who possibly can. The price will be no objective, for everything is free.

LARGE NUMBER NEW RECRUITS FOR GIRL RESERVES

CODE, PURPOSE, DUTIES AND REWARDS EXPLAINED BY MRS. HENRY.

At the first official meeting of the Girl Reserves Thursday evening, seventy-five girls were present, thirty-three of whom were guests who had been invited to be new members. The meeting was opened by the president, Peggy Yingling. Jean Ahn led the group in prayer. Jean Bollenbacher, chairman of the membership committee, spoke to the guests in regard to the purpose, habits and customs of the Girl Reserves. We were favored by a quartet composed of Ruth Zehner, Jean Ahn, Marguerite Christman, Florence Mae Fry and accompanied by Marguerite Seip at the piano.

We were pleased to have with us two members of the council, Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Odgers. The subject of the speech of Mrs. Henry, president of the council, was the code, purpose, duties and rewards of Girl Reserves. She said "one must know one's self, control one's self and reverence one's self to be a true and honest member of the organization. Girl Reserves prepare and equip girls with the ability to entertain only the highest standards and make the best "choices" in the course of their lives. The true measure of success is the ration of what you might have done and what you really have made of yourselves by the obstacles you have conquered and the opportunities you have utilized. Only the live fish can swim upstream against the current; the dead ones float down. The youth of today are the women of tomorrow; to make today better and tomorrow the best is the goal toward which Girl Reserves and its members are striving."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Henry's

FRESH PAINT AND WAX RENEW WOODWORK

SCHOOL ROOMS LOOK LIKE NEW AFTER SUMMER'S WORK BY JANITORS.

Can it be true that our high school now looks almost as new as it did in the autumn of 1928? We all say that it does.

When we came back this fall everything looked pleasantly new and we found that while we had been vacationing the janitors had been busily engaged in rejuvenating walls, floors, desks, etc.

The walls of each room in the high school are painted cream to the molding, the remaining part being white. The cream walls reflect a pleasant glow of light and are not so apt to promote eye-strain as the former white walls were inclined to do.

Upon entering the study hall one is surprised by the "polished" appearance everything seems to possess. The floor is waxed until it shines, and even the tables glisten with a new lustre, this being the result of several coats of varnish.

But the pride and glory of all are the floors of the auditorium and gym. The auditorium floor was scrubbed and waxed till it looks almost like new. This was not done just in the aisles, but under every seat as well. The gym floor was refinished and all the lines were repainted. Also the woodwork about the footlights was varnished. With all these new treatments, our high school feels quite dressed up.

But the high school has no right to feel too dressy, for the other school buildings have had beauty treatment also. The floors in all the other buildings were cleaned and waxed, the outside of the McKim building was painted, and at Ellis, the walls, ceilings and

STUDENT ADVISORY STAFF

In order to give the student body a voice in the government of our school, to create a closer relationship between faculty and students, and, in short, to better our school, the Student Advisory Staff has been created. The Staff consists of twenty-eight members, each home room being represented by one boy and one girl. All the representatives must meet certain definite requirements in scholarship and citizenship.

The staff for this year is shown in the picture above. In the top row are Gladys Cooper, Marian Smith, Marjorie Cloud, Allegra Loudenslagel, Peggy Woleslagel, Robert Heilman, and Jean Leonard. Standing in the second row are Hester Aigler, Ethel DeHart, Rita Jane Furlong, Arlene Woods, Gordon Gilbert, Charles Lieber, Joan Bollenbacher, Joe Wright, Ray Middlesworth, Arthur Dahlquist, and Mr. Wolfe, the faculty adviser. Those seated include Althea Kern, Dorothy Geiger, Evelyn Sillman, Ardyth Kern, assistant secretary; William Aigler, president; Annie Marie Jones, secretary; Thomas Stark, Richard Gahn, and Arthur Walters. The two members not in the picture are Gerard McClain, vice president, and Charles Tracy.

The staff is organized with a constitution specifying its methods of procedure. Meetings held once each week are carried on under strict parliamentary law. Among the more important accomplishments of this staff have been the revision of the student handbook, the adoption of music letters, and the operation of the Comet bank. It also has formulated an ethics code for athletics and throughout the year has issued formal invitations to students of opposing schools in athletic contests. The staff made recommendations for the qualifications of cheer leaders and student officers, and the method of electing them. During the basketball season a free check room was operated. The staff sponsored a home room discussion of artists and paintings as a means for creating interest in the art exhibit. Bellevue High School has had a Student Advisory Staff only two years, but its many services speak for themselves.

Membership in the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors the school can bestow. Chosen from the upper third of the class as to scholarship, membership is limited to fifteen per cent of the senior class. Selection is based on "Service, Scholarship, Leadership, and Character." This was the first honor society established in B. H. S., our charter being dated 1924.

The second of the national societies organized in this school was Quill and Scroll, the honor society for high school journalists. To become a member of this honorary group it is necessary that one do outstanding work in some phase of high school journalism. A record of this work is sent to the national offices and upon approval the student is accepted as a member.

Third of the honorary societies is Thespians, the national honorary society for high school dramatists. Eligibility for the society is gained through work done in Crimson Troupers and in turn approved by the faculty adviser, Miss Wolf.

A select group comprises the membership of the most recent of our national elective societies—the National Athletic Scholarship Society. To become a member it is necessary that a student win a major athletic award in one of the three major athletic departments of the school, and that he maintain a scholastic average above the average of the school. The Bellevue chapter of the society was chartered in 1932, and its membership to date includes nineteen boys. This year six members were chosen.

Girl Reserves! What joyous scenes that magic name conjures up for members of this organization! The work of the club brings inspiration in daily living, as well as pleasure to every girl. Last September we opened the school year with a hike in the country. There we built a glowing campfire, and though we dined not on partridge or wild boar, we played "pretend" with our weiners and buns. Then, reclining around the dying embers, we regaled ourselves with stories.

One night in late October, Hallowe'en with its ghostly whispers and mysterious moanings arrived at the gym, which soon rang with feminine shieks and yells, as the Girl Reserves were entertained in a true Hallowe'en fashion.

Then old Saint Nick brought us a Christmas party complete with a glittering tree and dancing. But our Yuletide season was not spent just in gaiety, for we attempted to aid Santa Claus with gifts which we ourselves had made at special social-service meetings. We also aided the local charity organization with contributions of staple foods.

The most important event of our social year was the Mothers-and-Daughters banquet held April the twelfth. At this informal affair the club adviser, Miss Cooper, and the Counsellors, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. Odgers, and Miss Ryan, were introduced to the mothers and new members. After the banquet the installation of the officers for the year 1934-1935 took place in an impressive ceremony.

Although with the close of the school year many of us will be graduated, we shall continue to keep our pledge and always endeavor to be loyal to our high ideals.

The present Senior Hi-Y has been in existence in Bellevue High School since 1929-1930 when, through the effort of Mr. J. G. Odgers of the local Y. M. C. A., a club of twelve boys became affiliated with the national organization. During the past six years the club has grown steadily in numbers and in service. The enrollment this year includes twenty-five boys, with Dr. H. K. Shumaker serving as counsellor.

An interesting series of programs was arranged for the year's meetings. Prominent Bellevue business and professional men were called in to give points on their respective occupations, and thus they helped many members in making plans for the future. Dr. Shumaker also gave a number of most worth-while talks on everyday problems.

The study course was interspersed with social hours, suppers, or swimming parties. A Father-and-Son banquet was given in co-operation with the Junior Hi-Y. The mothers of the members assisted at this time to make the affair a success. Officers for the coming year were installed and a competent speaker gave a topic of current interest. The Hi-Y Prom this year, because of the clever decorations and program, was one of the high-lights of the school's activities.

During the past year representatives were sent to various neighboring cities for the purpose of organizing Hi-Y chapters in their schools. Several new clubs have been formed in this manner. The sectional Hi-Y conference was held in Bellevue in April and was widely attended by delegates from various cities.

SENIOR HI-Y

OFFICERS 1933-1934

President - - - -	Ray Middlesworth
Vice President - - - -	Charles Moore
Secretary - - - - -	Richard Gahn
Treasurer - - - -	Donald Hasselbach

The Junior Hi-Y group, which consists of freshmen and sophomore boys, aims to offer the same opportunity to underclassmen which the Senior Hi-Y offers to older boys.

Bellevue's first Junior Hi-Y chapter was organized in the early fall of 1931. Mr. Odgers of the Y. M. C. A. was the first counsellor and still continues in that capacity.

A constitution and by-laws were drawn up similar to those of the older club. A course of study was planned for the weekly meetings and this, together with the ensuing discussions, soon formed a unified group. The business meetings brought into practice a great deal of drill in parliamentary law and in this way Junior club members were prepared for membership in the Senior group.

This year the Junior Hi-Y continued to carry on an extensive social, athletic, and study program. Basketball was played during the winter, and parties were held on appropriate occasions throughout the school year. The most important and worth-while activity, however, was the study carried on at the weekly meetings. Discussions were led by the counsellor, an outsider, or a selected member. Everyday problems and ethical questions were freely discussed and in this way the members were taught to think of current conditions.

THE CRIMSON TROUPERS

President - - - - - Howard Wehr
Vice President - - - Gerard McClain
Secretary - - - - - Peggy Yingling
Treasurer - - - Ellsworth Schaeffer

At the end of this school year the Crimson Troupers draw the curtain on the stage of their 1933-1934 dramatic activity. Behind this curtain lie the many successful productions of the year. The same plan of student direction, make-up, and stage crew work which proved most satisfactory last year was equally beneficial to members of the organization this year. Under the able supervision of Miss Wolf, faculty director, the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang," was produced twice during the holiday season. Stage scenery for the play was the most elaborate of any made by the Crimson Troupers.

This year, fantasies as well as dramas and comedies were among the list of productions given. "No Sabe," perhaps the most difficult play presented, was a splendid example of the drama. "Good Medicine," a lighter number, was a fine example of a comedy. Two typical fantasies which were next given were received with enthusiasm and interest.

Besides their regular club productions, the Crimson Troupers aided in both the Junior and Senior High operettas by taking charge of the scenery, costuming, and make-up.

It is the aim and purpose of Crimson Troupers to develop initiative and co-operation and to find a place in the field of dramatic art for all those interested in any phase of the work. Some students are interested just in acting, or in make-up; others cannot act, but under the plan of voluntary try-outs may find a place in some other type of work.

Next fall the curtain will again be drawn back and will reveal a clear stage waiting for the members of Crimson Troupers to begin work and develop again actors and actresses, scenery and costume designers, stage crews and make-up committees. Tomorrow's world genius in dramatic art is today's amateur of the high school stage.

"SHIRT SLEEVES"

Presented by Senior Class under the direction of Rachael Adeline Wolf
April 24, 1934.

Everyone knows that there are no social classes in this, our democratic America. But we know also how often a definite separation arises between our wealthy sets and the so-called common menial. "Shirt Sleeves" pictures the rise and fall of an average family. They have risen from middle-class wealth to a point where much of our time-honored American enthusiasm for work has been hidden beneath the glitter of social life. It should not be thought that all of this family's inherently good qualities have been lost; for in the downfall of their material wealth, they recover again the things which form the backbone of our nation.

The spirited music of our smartly attired Band never fails to thrill us, and the organization has made itself an essential factor in school and community life. This year, the fifth under the direction of Mr. Harry Cummins, has been a very successful one. The band with its ninety members is the largest in the history of the school.

The year was distinguished by the addition of a new unit, the drum and bugle corps. The drum corps, composed entirely of girls, began practicing last summer and made its first public appearance early in the fall. The bugles were purchased during the winter and the corps was organized and calls were learned. The groups are now joined to fcrm one unit.

The combined band and drum corps kept things moving at football games, pep meetings, and parades. Our organization was a feature of a late-autumn parade of several bands in Norwalk. Pep meetings throughout the football and basketball season were not complete without a small selected "pep band," and things were kept lively at basketball games by the same group. When Open House was held, the band entertained at the culminating auditorium meeting. The band again pleased at Music Night, an annual joint concert of the school's music deartments. For the second time in five years Bellevue was host to the band festival; Norwalk, Oberlin, and Willard were the other bands represented. The festival was held for but one day, but the affair was a great success, both for its colorful parade and the concert in the evening.

The Dance Band is another musical organization under the general supervision of Mr. Cummins. Clair Pugsley serves as the efficient leader. It is the opinion of all who attended our school dances this year that the band surpassed any similar organization the school has had. A complete repertoire of the current favorites was maintained throughout the season, while several musical novelty numbers never failed to please.

The group played for several functions outside the school. Engagements were traded with the Fremont and Sandusky bands, ours playing at one of their dances, while they in turn played at Bellevue. Two outfits were used at the Charity Ball, the school band being one of them. Music at several Hi-Y parties at the Y. M. C. A. was also furnished.

DANCE BAND

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra goes on year after year in its quiet way, playing at school entertainments, giving its members a deeper sense of harmony, and developing an invaluable appreciation for melodic music of the finest type in its members and in those who hear it. Much time and practice has been spent both by the director, Mr. Carl Lenz, and the orchestra members to bring good music to the public. Composers such as Dvorak, Bizet, and Brahms were studied. Besides playing at school plays and entertainments, the orchestra rendered a program at Music Night, at Baccalaureate, and at Commencement. It took part in the Spring Festival at Willard and a small group was selected to play for the operetta.

Thus when we say that the orchestra goes on in its quiet way we do not mean that it is unnoticed. It is gaining popularity steadily, as is evidenced by the number who wish to become members. This year there are thirty-three players.

The Vocal Department is unusually large this year, since its two hundred fifty-five singers represent over half the high school. Nearly everyone of this group took part in some special work during the year.

Operettas seem to have been the year's outstanding feature, for three were presented. The first, Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," which was given by the Junior High, was unusual in that a large chorus sang from the orchestra pit while most of the action of the familiar fairy story was in pantomime on the stage.

Music Night presented our first Senior High operetta, "Lady Frances," in which only girls took part. They became gay college students for one night and great was the excitement when Bridget was mistaken for Lady Frances.

Then came the annual high-school operetta. This entertainment took us to "Crocodile Island" with its palm trees and native people. We shall never forget our humorous monarch, King Bongazoola, and his chamberlin, Nitwit; the hero, Thomas Brooks, and his friend, Jeff Penfield; or the charming princesses, Pearl and Petal. In the picture above we see the cast which includes:

The Choral-Orchestra Concert closely followed the operetta. It was held at Willard with R. V. Morgan as guest conductor. Six schools participated, including Bellevue, Norwalk, Clyde, Port Clinton, Shelby, and Willard. Each school was represented by forty-four performers, making a total of two hundred sixty-four. Music by Mendelssohn, Brahms, Denza, and Wagner was used.

At different times during the year select groups of trios, quartets, sextets, and octets were chosen to sing at various programs and assemblies. A select group of thirty-two voices furnished music for the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang." Those who have taken part in the vocal department this year have all enjoyed working with each other and with their able director, Miss Helen Barr.

Above is a picture of the Study Hall in which every minute of the school day the wheels of mental industry are constantly turning, for one hundred twenty pupils are at work here each period.

Our dynamos are our busy minds concentrating on our lessons and our work benches are tables—beautifully finished. We are inspired by the cheerfulness of the sunlight pouring through the many windows and by the pictures—innovations in our school this year—which make brilliant splashes of color against the creamy walls.

Our activity here is greatly aided by our library corner which contains books for every subject from the much-thumbed encyclopedias, down through the valuable books of the sciences and arts, to the well-loved stories of Dickens and Scott.

In order that our library may be well cared for, there has been appointed a Library Staff under the supervision of Eunice Swaebly. One girl is on duty each period. The magazine section of our library is in charge of Rena Joseph.

1933 FOOTBALL 1933

The Bellevue High School team, that for the first time in years became known as Bellevue's football "machine", played through a season that put football back in the minds and hearts of not only the students but of the townspeople as well. The large number of fans attending the games amply proved this. We came out of the cellar position for the first time in seven years and took third place in this, the last year of the Little Big Seven league. At the end of the season Sandusky, Fremont, and Tiffin withdrew from the league, leaving Bellevue, Norwalk, Oberlin, and Willard to join with Port Clinton to form our new league, the Little Big Five.

September 16: Bellevue 6—Port Clinton 0.

In the first game, which was at home, the team defeated Port Clinton in a tussle that started us off on the path leading to long-awaited victories.

September 23: Bellevue 6—Oak Harbor 0.

Oak Harbor almost tied the score in the last seconds of play and had the rest of us on our toes in excitement. It was one of those times when we were relieved to hear that whistle blow.

September 30: Bellevue 13—Lakeside 0.

The Crimson warriors carried the pigskin away from Lakeside and three times forced it over the goal to give us a score of 13 to 0 against a team which had successfully beaten us in several previous years.

October 14: Sandusky 21—Bellevue 7.

This game was the highlight of the season. Bellevue, or rather a part of Bellevue, migrated to Sandusky; flags were up and only a few clouds sailed through the sky, as the team rocketed through 19 first downs, and across 279 yards of turf to outplay the Bluestreaks in three quarters. In spite of this masterful playing, our rivals, the future league champions, won the game.

October 21: Bellevue 29—Oberlin 7.

Another beautiful day and a beautiful victory—there were, in fact, 29 of those all important points to Oberlin's 7. What was going to happen next?

October 28: Willard 25—Bellevue 0.

Alas! We lost this game in spite of a preliminary funeral and discovered that it takes a combination of necessary things to get those victories.

November 4: Bellevue 14—Tiffin 13.

Things looked better with Tiffin under lock and key. It seemed as though we were getting back into the old stride with a 14 to 13 victory.

November 11: New London 7—Bellevue 0.

Next, a fast New London team came up and in a sea of mud and ice won a 7 to 0 victory. Was it ever cold!

November 18: Fremont 31—Bellevue 0.

Fremont at Bellevue and the last defeat of the season. Once again "that something" didn't happen. One thing that did go well was the hot dogs. (Ask Loren Kaufman!)

November 31: Bellevue 13—Norwalk 0.

Then Thanksgiving day and a victory at Norwalk. It was an ending worthy of our graduating players. We had gained a third place in the league standing and things were looking brighter yet for the next year when, with some more of that excellent aid of the coaches, the team is expected to be bigger and better than ever.

THE COACHES

HANEY HOFFMAN GAHN

THE MANAGERS

TAM CORRIGGIO GAHN

Although the Reserve Football Team did not win many games this year, the boys proved that they knew football, and would make valuable players for future B. H. S. squads. They won one game, and tied one out of the other six played. Most of the players were inexperienced, since this was the first year of football for most of them; but Mr. Haney worked with the boys night after night until they mastered many of the fundamentals.

1933 BASKETBALL 1934

1933 BASKETBALL 1934

The football season was scarcely over before basketball began. There were only two lettermen, Mitchell and Burgess, left from last year's varsity, but plenty of usable material was soon developed. The league season was marked by a number of play-off games after the customary series. The team played fifteen games during the season:

December 8: Bellevue 22—Amherst 12.
December 9: Bellevue 23—Port Clinton 20.
December 15: Lorain 18—Bellevue 17.
December 22: Bellevue 35—Bucyrus 9.
December 29: Bellevue 23—Alumni 16.
January 5: Sandusky 23—Bellevue 20.
January 12: Bellevue 37—Oberlin 22.
January 13: Bellevue 28—Junior Order 21.
January 19: Willard 22—Bellevue 21.
January 26: Bellevue 25—Tiffin 24.
February 2: Bellevue 28—Norwalk 17.
February 9: Fremont 21—Bellevue 16.
February 16: Bellevue 24—Tiffin 22.
February 23: Sandusky 28—Bellevue 16.
March 1: Tiffin 20—Bellevue 15.

In this short summary we are forced to remember only a few of the most outstanding games.

Although the first game was played after only a week of practice, our team was able to start another successful basketball season by winning from Amherst, whose team had beaten us last year.

Then there was December 15th when Lorain's tall team came down to renew the traditional conflict. It was a heartrending battle for us because twenty seconds before the gun went off the score stood 17-16 in our favor! Then we lost, 18-17.

On the first of January the largest crowd in years saw us lose by only three points to Sandusky, the future league champions.

We will not soon forget the Tiffin game. It was the first defeat Tiffin had met on their own floor in two years. When the game was over the onlookers were almost as tired as the players. The last part, especially, was nip and tuck between the two teams. Just before the finish a long Tiffin toss hit the basket, rolled around, and then fell obligingly out. It is those things that send your heart to your mouth.

Later Tiffin played a return game in Bellevue. This time the boys had a big lead at the half; in fact Zechman, the league high point man, made 18 points. Thus we won a second victory over Tiffin, the defending league champions.

The play-off game that gave Sandusky the league championship drew 2000 fans, the largest crowd of Sandusky's season. It was a relatively slow game, being stopped 31 times for fouls. The third quarter was the one that spelled defeat to B. H. S.

We met Tiffin for the third time at the sectional tournament but it was seemingly too much to expect the boys to win again; anyway we are pleased to remember that Tiffin went on to the state tourney.

The prospects for a fast team next year are very good because six out of ten first stringers will remain to play again; and then, too, there is that champion reserve team from which to draw.

BOYS INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

It is interesting to note that boys, and girls too, have an increasingly better chance to take part in intramural activities as each new school year arrives. Of course, it is greatly to be desired in any educational system to have all students take part in some sport or game. This year about 100 different boys took part in some form of basketball. Among these were the varsity squad, the reserve team, the freshman team, and eighth grade team, and both junior high and senior high intramural teams. In senior high an intramural league of eight teams with seven boys on each team was formed, and they played it out with many flying leaps and some sundry varieties of tumbles. Grossnickle was the captain of the winning team, and when awards were received in assembly he presented his teammates as follows: James Bickhart, Clifford Beck, Joseph Corriggio, Jack Weiler, Albert Scagnetti, and Joe Monarchi.

Later the classes played a tournament in which the seniors won in an intensely exciting overtime game with the juniors. The public should have seen it, for it was as good as any inter-city game. The freshman ranked third and the sophomores fourth in the interclass tournament.

RESERVES

LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Robert Grubb, Robert Hutchins, Robert Barnard, Richard Raish, Joseph Basch, Charles Heilman. Mr. Gahn, coach.

Above is the Reserve Team which has the honor of being Bellevue's first Reserve League Champions. They defeated all other reserve teams in the league and out of a total of ten games played, won seven. Although Bellevue always produces good basketball teams, so do many of our neighboring towns, and therefore a champion team must necessarily be good. This is the team that used to interest us so much in the preliminaries just before the big game of the night began. Several of this year's Reserves will undoubtedly play on next year's varsity. Mr. Gahn coached this team.

Below is the team from that fine freshman class. They may be young but they play a smooth game. It is that early experience that makes a good team in later years and this gang seems to know it. They won eight and tied one out of eleven games played. It must be remembered that the Varsity and Reserve squads were using the gym much of the time and that it was hard to get in all the needed practice on our regulation sized basketball floor, so their record is commendable. Mr. Haney coached the team this year.

TRACK 1933

Track has been growing steadily more popular at Central High and has become a very important part of the athletic year. The spring of 1933 was only the fifth season that Bellevue sent complete teams to take part in track meets, so it may be seen that track is rather new in comparison to our football and basketball.

Here are the scores of the meets in which we took part in the spring of 1933:

Bellevue 66 2-3—Port Clinton 59 1-3.
Bellevue 38—Mansfield 89.
Bellevue 58—Fremont 77—Tiffin 25.
League meet at Oberlin: Bellevue 5th.
District meet at Fremont: Bellevue 5th.

The interclass track meet was won by the seniors. The scores were: seniors, 75 2-3; juniors, 46; sophomores, 45; and freshmen 2.

William Nims was elected honorary captain of the squad. Among the other notables were Mitchell, a sophomore, who pole vaulted; George Hutchins, that big man with the discus; Clyde McClintock, who has made the highest number of points of any track man in the history of our school; and the members of the mile relay team, McClintock, Nims, Wehr, and Zehner, who roared down the track to gather in the first place at the District meet. They qualified for the state meet but through some error they did not get to run. Perhaps they were too good!

In the 1934 season all track events except the District meet at Mansfield were held before the Comet went to press.

Bellevue 69—Port Clinton 46.
Bellevue 72—Clyde 36.
Bellevue 46—Fremont 97—Tiffin 18.
Bellevue 56 5-6—Clyde 52 1-6.
Bellevue 43 1-2—Willard 71—Norwalk 45 1-2.
League meet at Oberlin: Bellevue 6th.

Interclass meet: juniors, first; seniors, second; sophomores, third; freshmen, fourth.

The meet at Port Clinton on April seventh repeated our last year's fine performance. We took eight firsts and this coupled with an almost perfect day made the meet a real success.

1934 TRACK

On April the 18th occurred the Clyde meet, the first inter-school meet ever held on Harmon field. It turned out to be a fine home-coming victory. The new one hundred yard straightaway track was inaugurated without ceremony when the gun went off to start the high hurdles.

April the twenty-first found Bellevue and Tiffin at Fremont in a triangular meet. We took two first places, five seconds, and made a good showing against Fremont's strong team despite the fact that some of our squad could not compete because of injuries.

We met Norwalk and Willard in another triangular meet at Willard on the 28th, when our team, still sadly depleted, surrendered second place to Norwalk.

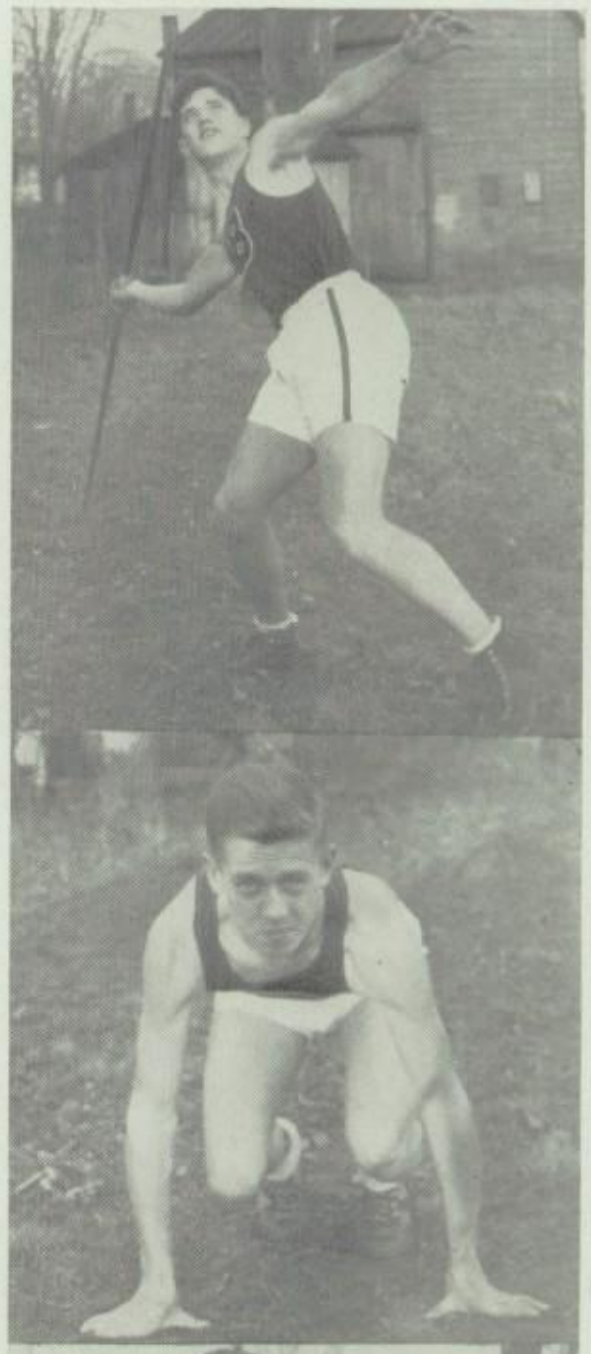
The next Tuesday we won another practice meet with Clyde.

The last annual Little Big Seven meet found Bellevue at Oberlin. Sandusky easily won this meet with her 73 points. Our best showing was made in the half mile run, won by H. Wehr, who took the first place.

Our remodeled mile relay team has continued to take first places with the two Wehr brothers, Raish, and Zehner doing the running. Zehner has consistently won the 440 except when he took a second at the League meet. Meyers has done good work at the broad jump. Robert Hutchins, one of our weight men, has proved to be a valuable asset to our team, especially in throwing the shot.

One of the best things about this year's track season is the number of undergraduates who came out to have a try at track. This early training is the thing that makes the reliable track man in later years.

Coach Gahn is responsible for the inception and rapid rise to fame of Bellevue track teams. This year he has been assisted by Mr. Haney.



GIRLS ATHLETICS

Girls' gym work this year was marked by eager interest in active games such as soccer, baseball, and track. A number of girls' teams were organized and keen rivalry resulted.

The first part of the year, soccer was the predominant sport. In the tournament the winning team was captained by Angeline De Luca and included Josephine Corriggio, Betty Tribolet, Rose Castrovince, Norma Carney, Anna Mae Williams, Evelyn Tibboles, Gladys Cooper, and Joyce Englund.

The girls' basketball tournament, which was played off during noon hours, aroused much interest among the players and attracted many spectators. There were six teams competing in this tournament. The winning team included Violet Patton, captain; Margery Meyer, Ella Mae Durst, Louise Colvin, Ruth Cook, Mildred Bennehoff, Frances Hoffman, Joan Abel, and Minnie Linder.

The sportsmanship and general spirit of the girls has been good. The girls' gym classes are all under the direction of Miss Barr.

SWIMMING

The fact that Bellevue High School has had a swimming pool for five years is beginning to show significant results.

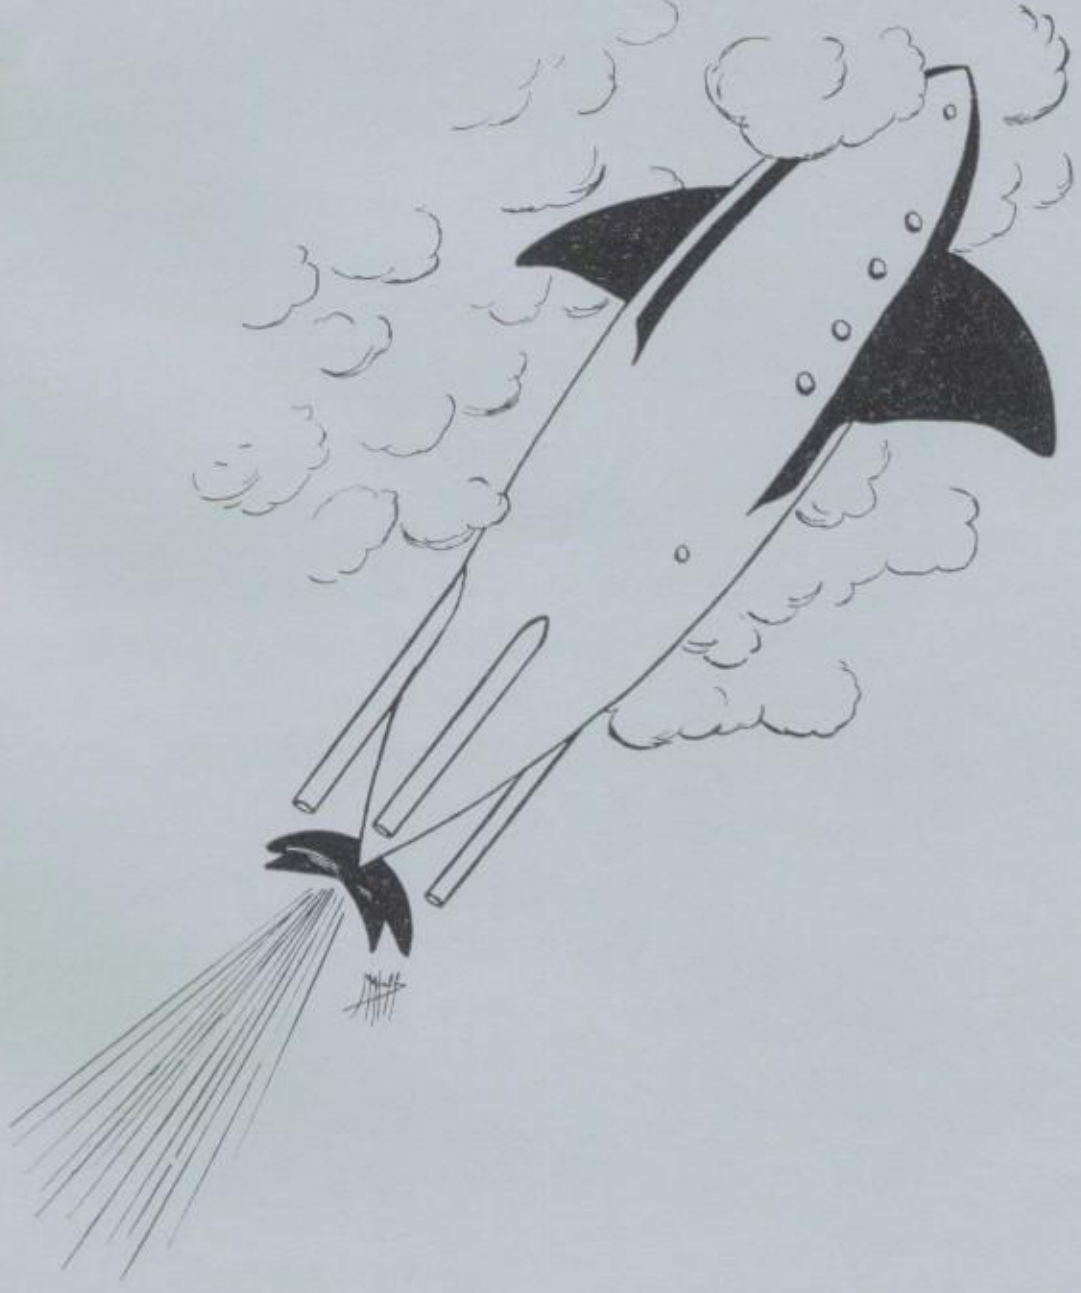
Of the one hundred and thirty-six girls registered in the swimming classes, there is not one who, at the end of the year, cannot swim.!

Moreover, the girls are working for better form this year, a fact which is very important. The girls have more confidence in themselves, and they are not afraid to dive. The beginners are first taught the crawl stroke, then the back stroke, and lastly the side stroke.

An unusually large group of twenty-five girls was in the Life-Saving classes, which were under the supervision of the Red Cross. The girls who passed their Senior Life-Saving tests are: Angeline De Luca, Margery Meyer, Violet Patton, Dorothy Knapp, Minnie Linder, Frances Hoffman, Louise Colvin, and Betty Tribolet. Those who passed their Junior tests are: Mary Jane Ruffer, Maxine Schnee, and Marian Smith. There is promising material in the Junior High, too, as Kathleen Fehl and Nancy Nye, members of the eighth grade, have already passed their Junior tests.

The swimming classes have been under the direction of Miss Barr but the Life-Saving tests were given by Mr. Haney. Five girls act as assistants to Miss Barr in the after-school classes for the grade children and for the Wednesday evening classes for the women.

SCHOOL LIFE



THIS WAY, PLEASE!

Now, ope your eyes, relax your nerves:
We've planned for you a treat,
A picture of our life at school,
Informal, brief, and neat.

Just sit right back and rest your feet,
(Eat candy if you care)
And gaze upon the students' haunts.
(Don't hide the amuséd air!)

First we've a list of what made up
The program of our school;
And then in line our meeting-room,
The spacious gym, and pool.

And then we thought perhaps that you
Might like a glimpse of these;
They're pictures of the labs we use;
Our view they surely please.

Now take a glance at something marked
By its distinctive name;
Industrial Arts, where students carve,
Draw, forge their way to fame.

Then comes a view of one whose care
Has kept us warm and cosy;
It's followed by bits of something you
Won't read, unless you're nosey.

Our summer's play next shows its face;
Calendars need no explaining.
The climax comes with programs when
The Seniors complete their training.

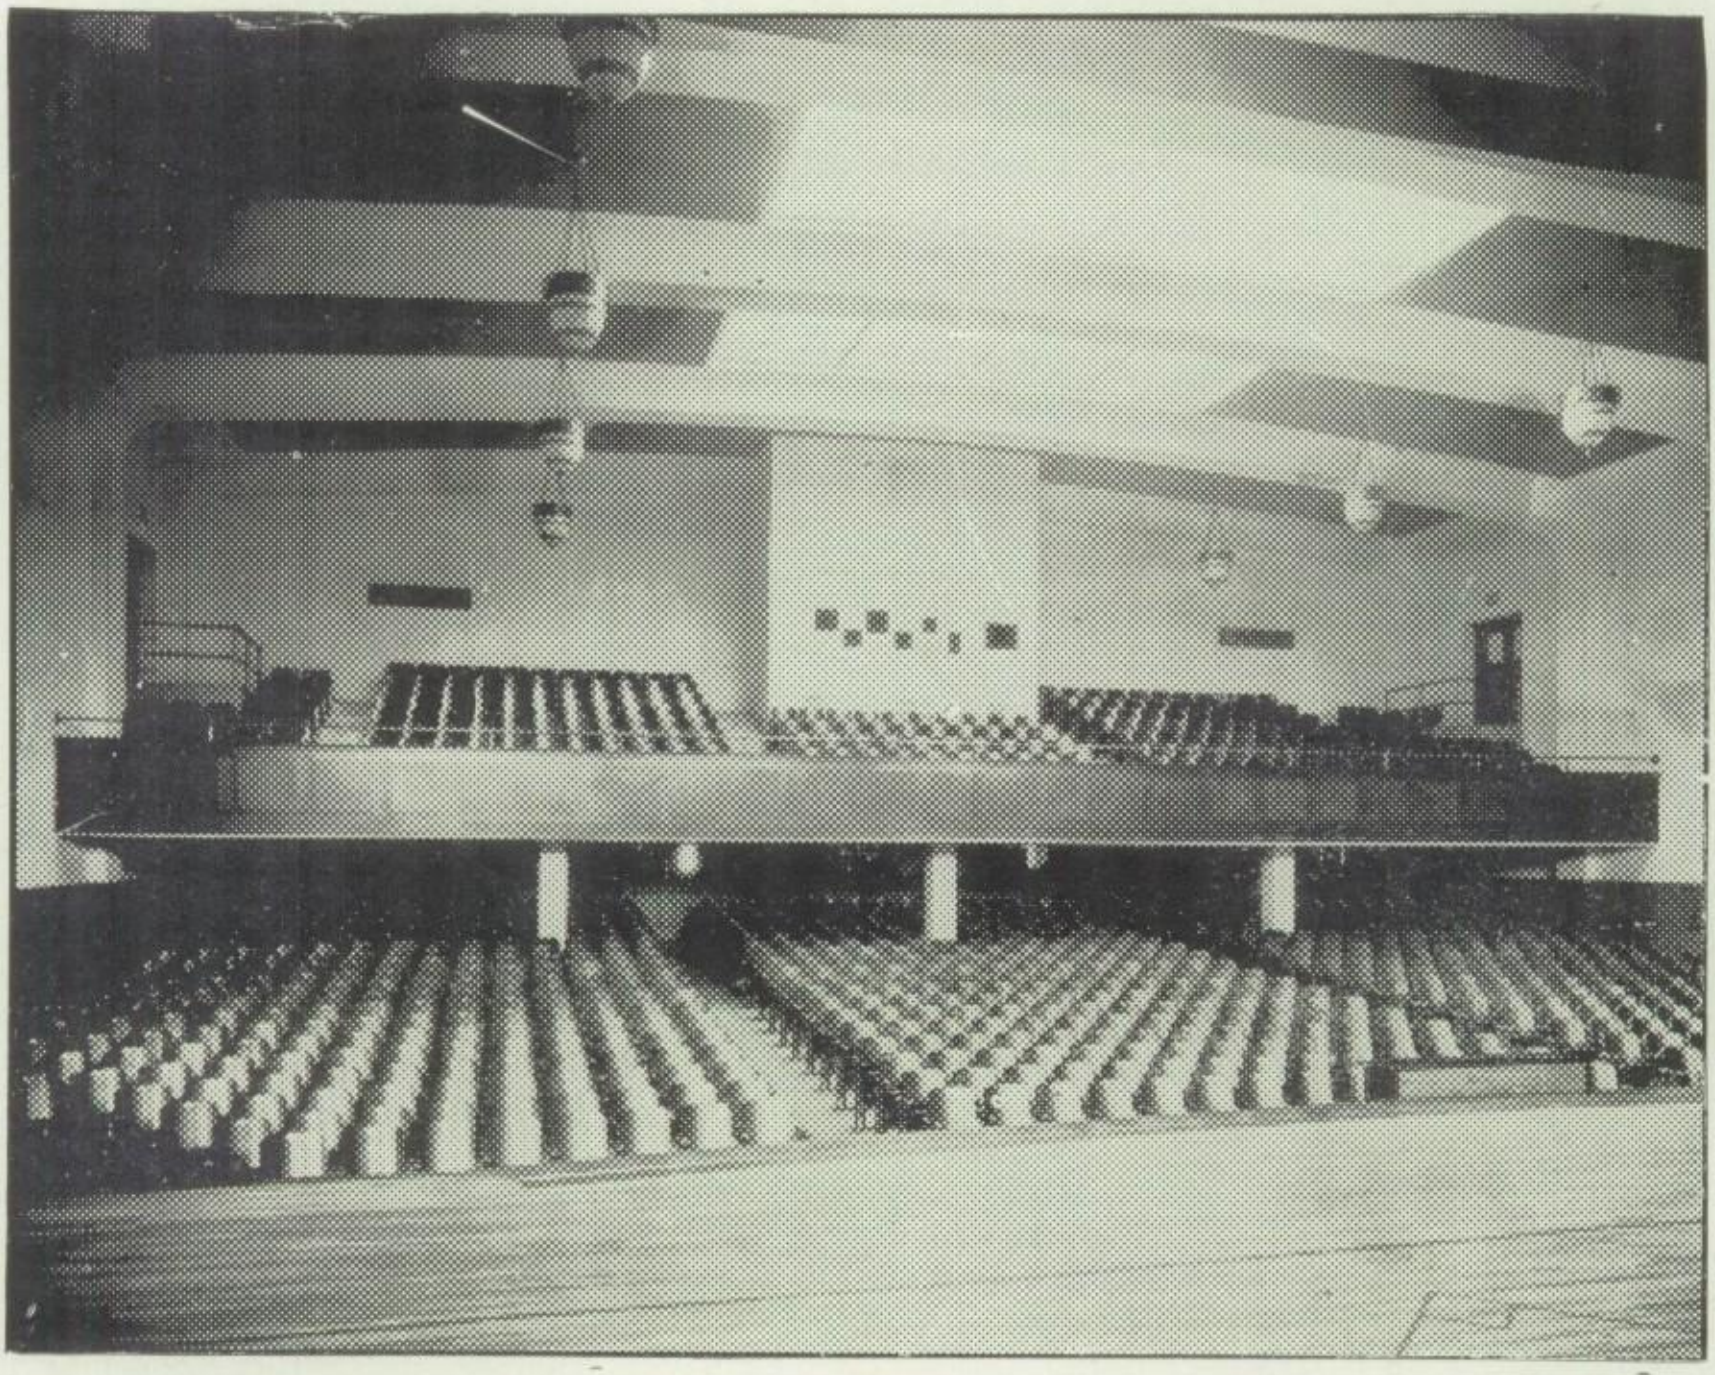
N. B.—Miss Ewing will have charge of Library Instruction.
Art Instruction will be arranged.
This schedule is the one followed the second semester, 1933-1934



Here we see the center of our high-school building, as well as the center of our school life, the Auditorium. The auditorium stage serves also as a spacious gymnasium, the scene of exciting basketball encounters, band rehearsals, dances, and dinners.

The Swimming Pool is used by students to perfect their natatorial proficiency. Perhaps they gain knowledge through observation of their finny masters on exhibition in the Biology Laboratory pool.

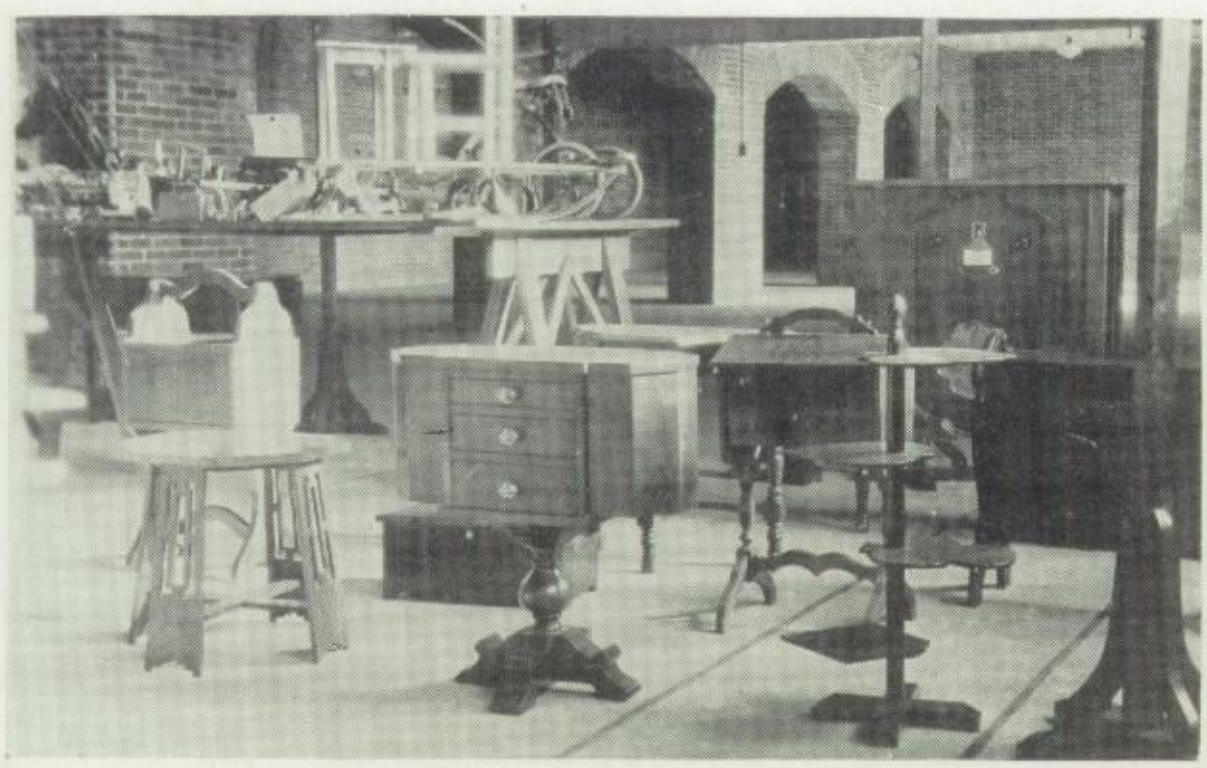
Has the science "bug" spread his disease? The Physics and Chemistry Laboratories seem to be infested by certain students. Their language becomes quite technical, but as yet none have reached the absent-minded, be-spectacled stage.

Here in the Foods Laboratory and in the adjoining sewing room students, mostly feminine, learn to boil water without a recipe and to make stitches without the aid of needle-pricked fingers.

Others turn to the endeavors of the business world and in the Commercial Department learn the rhythmic but unmusical art of typing. Here, too, some of our departed comrades return occasionally to post-graduate night school to gain something they may have missed during their scheduled stay.



Above are shown some of the products of the Industrial Arts Department.
Plans and blue prints are produced in the Mechanical Drawing room below.

NOUS VOUS SALUONS, LA CLASSE DE QUATRE-VINGT QUATRE,

Comment va le monde maintenant? Parlez-vous encore de "cinquante million français" et "de gai Paris"? Est-ce que Chicago encore la grande ville mechante et San Francisco est-elle encore notre "porte d'or"?

Peut-être vous demeurez dans les maisons baties en l'air et aussi dans les maisons de la glace. Peut-être vous voyagez toujours dans les machines tres vite qui flottent en l'air.

Nous ésperons que vous pouviez parler facilement par télégraphe avec les français de travers la mer. Maintenant nous ne pouvons qu'écrire les lettres á notre amis français, puisqu' il coute trop d'argent pour employer le télégraphe.

Nous vous demandons si vous aimez le français aussi bien que nous l'aimons. Si nous vivions depuis cinquante ans, nous parlerez avec vous de ce subjet.

Nous avons fini notre étude de français. Chacun de notre classe brillante ferme les yeux en tranquillité avec les derniers mots en bon français, (C'est fini.)

Nous ésperons que vous aimerez le français
Comme nous, la classe de trente-quatre,
Et aussi que vous vous amuserez
Quand vous liserez notre lettre.

Recevez l'assurance de nos sentiments distingués,

LA CLASSE DE TRENTE QUATRE.

Tertio anno per orationes Ciceronis in Catilinam habitas ira excitati sumus et cum ceteris Romanis morti eum damnavimus. Quarto anno cum pio Aenea circum omnia maria navigantes omnes casus tulimus. Vergilius de eo narravit.

Quod facta antiquorum populorum cognovimus, vos proximi nobis videmini. Speramus vos linguam Latinam studere et ea delectari. Vobisne verba clarissima oratoris, "At haec studia adulescentium alunt" et cetera, memoria tenenda sunt? Tulistisne ad lucem ullas urbes in orbe terrarum, quas non invenimus?

THE SCHOOL CALENDAR

JULY AND AUGUST

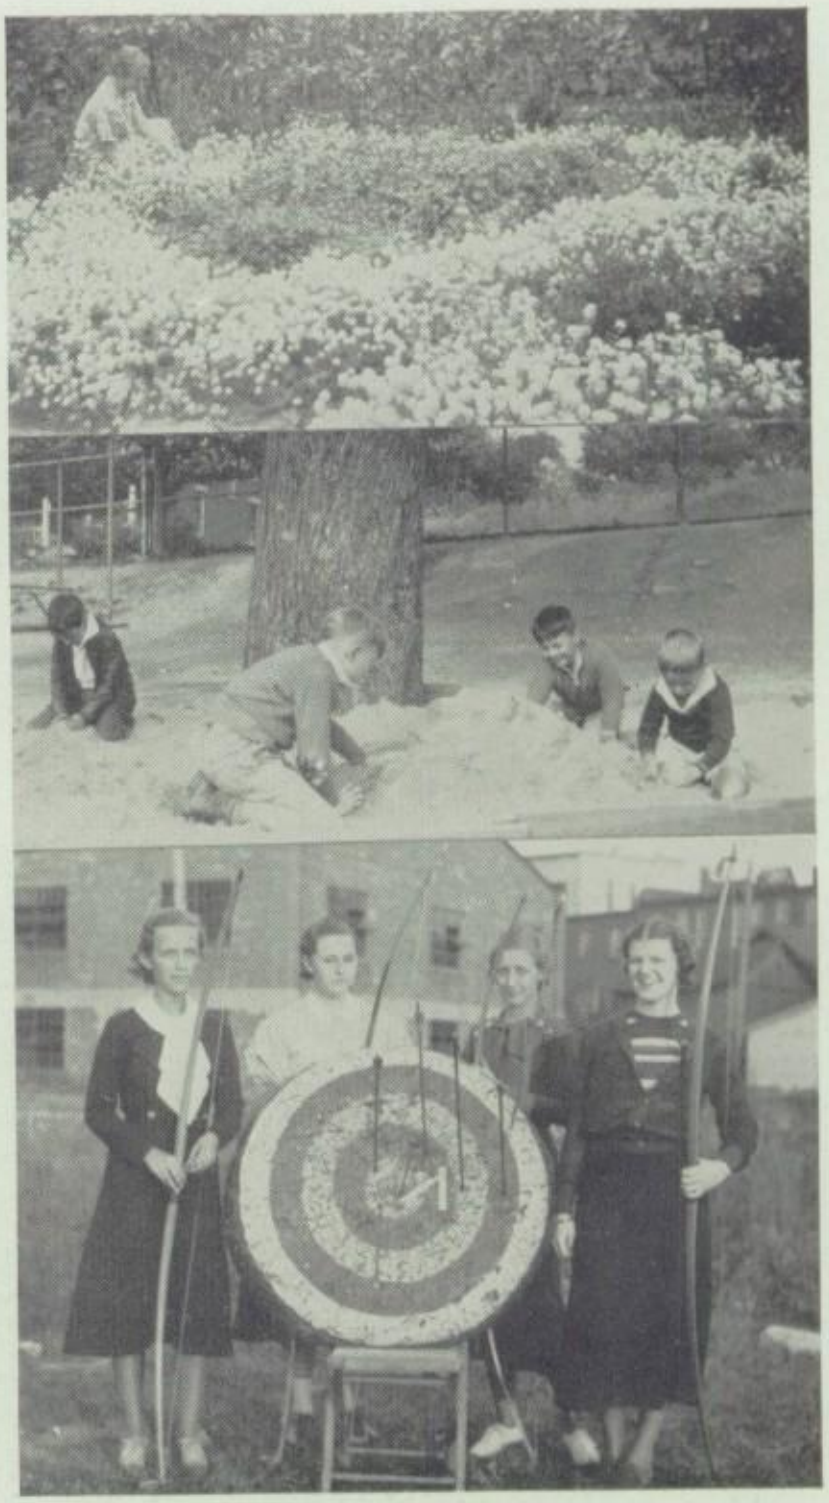
And young and old come forth to play
On a sunshine holiday.

—Milton.

In an effort to provide safe, wholesome, and interesting entertainment for the school children and also for the older boys and girls who could not find employment during the summer, the Bellevue school board with the co-operation of interested citizens established the Playground Project.

The boys' activities included hardball, softball, tennis, archery, swimming, basketball, and band. For the girls there were softball, tennis, archery, swimming, handcraft, gardening, and band.

Here can be seen two pictures of the girls' activities. The lovely garden is that of the president of the garden club and the other is the girls' archery team. For the younger children there were sand-piles and story hours which kept their hands and minds occupied and saved mother much worry.



SEPTEMBER

How soon hath Time, the subtle thief of youth,
Stolen on his wing—

—Milton.

4. Opening day of school.
   Central High is largest in Huron county. There is a mad rush for handbooks but still the freshmen are lost in the upper corridors.

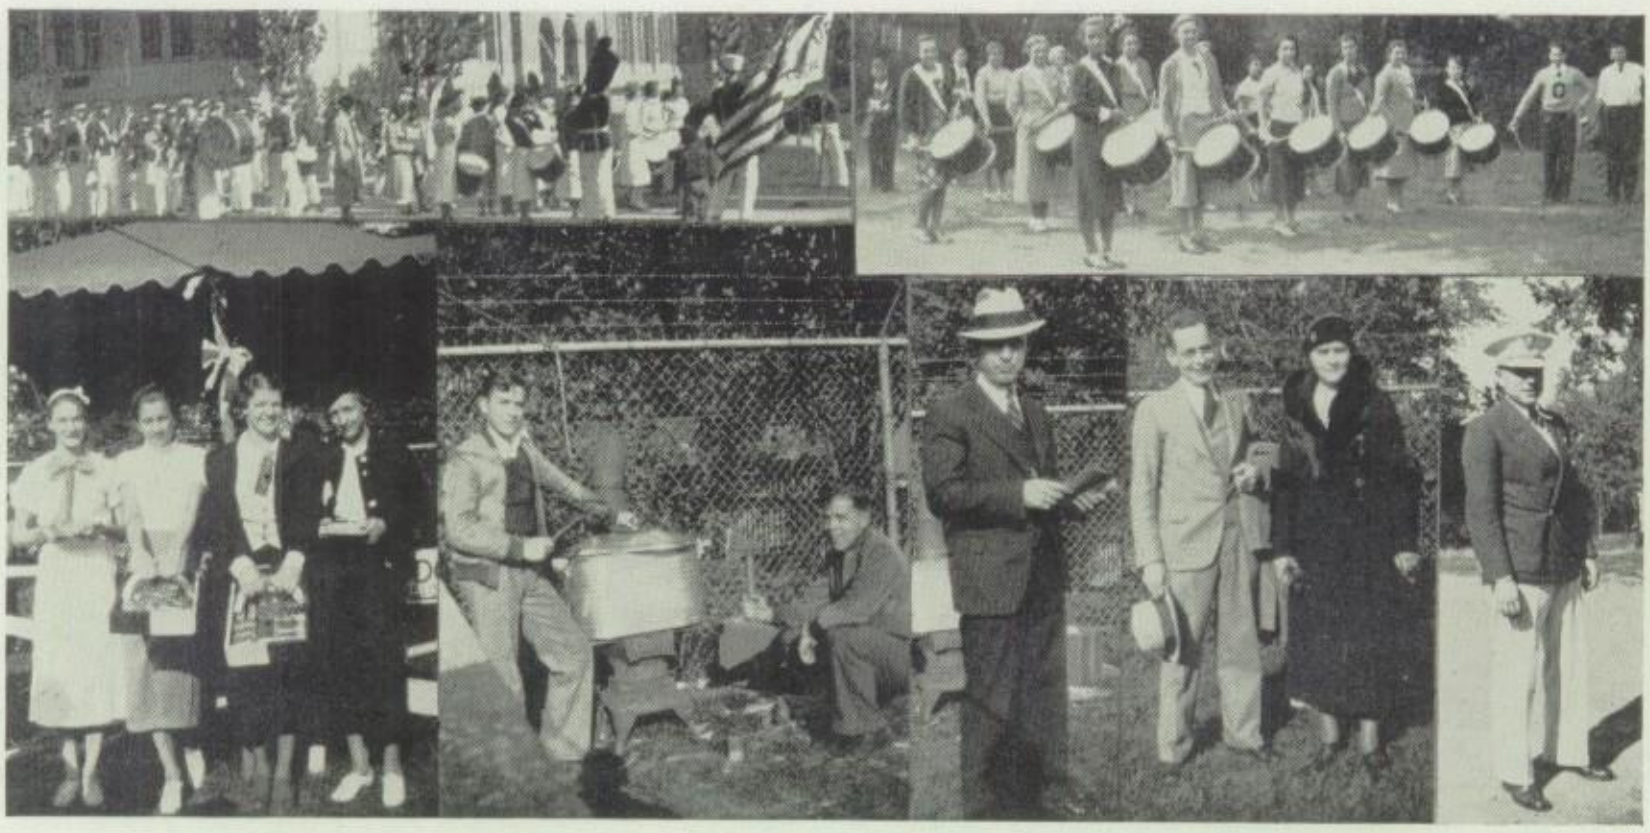
16. Football game with Port Clinton.
   Hurrah! our first victory; hot dogs with mustard or relish at the senior stand or candy from the girls. Is that our superintendent with the hot dog? This is also the first appearance of our new drum corps.

20. Advisory Staff organized.
   Twenty-eight students begin an active year; one of their tasks is to revise the handbook.

23. Game with Oak Harbor.
   First we took Port Clinton,
   And my! how we did cheer;
   So next we beat Oak Harbor
   And started a wonderful year.

28. Rev. Hauck left with us a thought:
   "Sow a thought, reap a habit.
   Sow a habit, reap a character.
   Sow a character, reap a destiny."

30. Game with Lakeside.
   Once again the Red and White is victorious.



OCTOBER

There is something in the autumn that is native to my blood—
Touch of manner, hint of mood; and my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and purple and the crimson keeping time.
—Bliss Carman.

3. Community reception.
   Right this way to meet the five new teachers.

5. Forrest Little entertains us.
   My! those knives and juggling balls.

11. Kathryn Egan thrills us with her harp.

12. Comet Staff organized.
   They promise us a long new tale.

12. Girl Reserve initiation.
   Another group of girls admitted to the circle of light.

14. Game with Sandusky.
   Find the picture of the team snapped just before starting.

19. Joe Gould amuses us with his clownish antics.
   Can't you see he has exquisite feet?

20. Game with Oberlin and Junior Dinner-Dance.
   What a style show! Yes, they are at the bottom of the page.

25. Girl Reserves' Hallowe'en party.
   They chased the goblins away.

27-28. Ohio Teachers Association meeting.
   While teacher's away, the pupils play; but not for long.

31. Senior class party: Hallowe'en masquerade.
   Can you tell who they were? You might try your skill by looking at the senior division page.

NOVEMBER

When yellow leaves, or none, or few do hang
Upon those boughs which shake against the cold,
Bare ruined choirs, where late the sweet birds sang.
—Shakespeare.

1. Illustrated lecture.
   Russell Fifer introduced us to the natives of Borneo.

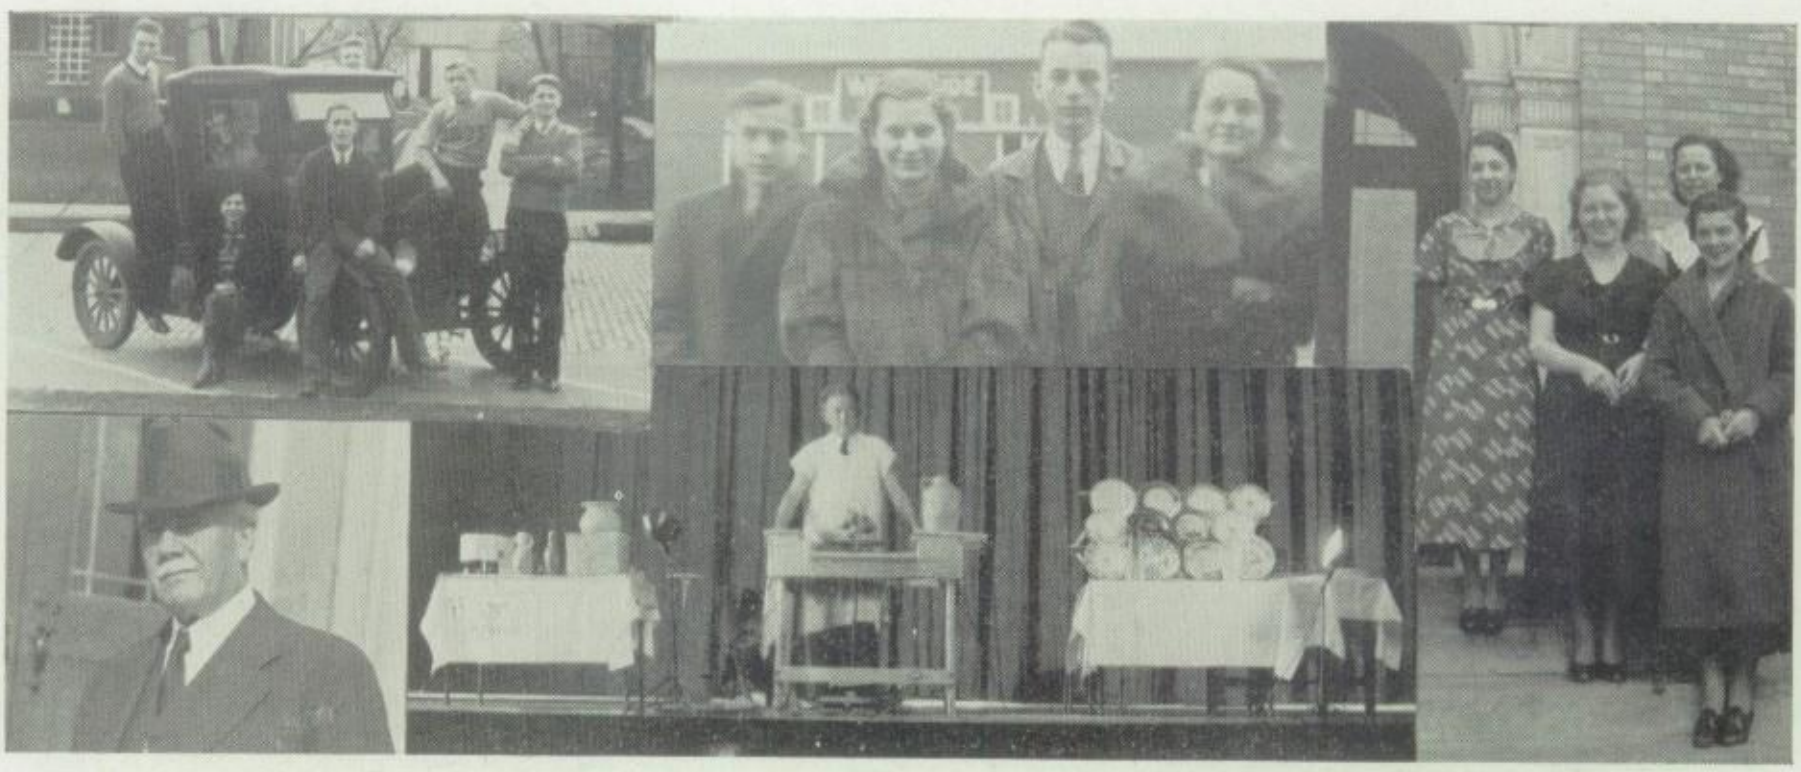
3. Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kansas, gave us food for thought. As you can see, he posed in his fedora.

9. Open House.
   We held classes in the evening in order that our parents might visit us. No, we weren't nervous; they went to school once upon a time.

16. Blind entertainer.
   Mr. Brient instilled in us new hope.

23. J. Smith Damron.
   Do you remember the potter and the clay? Besides we saw some of the White House china.

24. Senior Gobble Hop.
   Busy seniors found the perfect way to start the Thanksgiving holidays.



DECEMBER

Heap on more wood! the wind is chill;
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll keep our Christmas merry still.

—Scott.

6.—Seniors select class jewelry.
A lovely combination of mother of pearl and gold.

7. Junior High operetta, Hansel and Gretel.
Just a bit of fairyland come to life. Sandmen, dewmen, and angels played their part. On page forty-five some of the characters are to be seen.

8. First basketball game.
Of course we beat Amherst.

12. Pamahasika's Pets.
The sophomores produced this treat of dogs, birds, and a monkey.

13. Junior class party.
Music, laughter, refreshments, and juniors.

19. Guest night of the Crimson Troupers.
"Why the Chimes Rang" presented to members and their guests.

20. School closed for holiday season.
Did we see tears? I think not.

JANUARY

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.

—Tennyson.

2. School reopened.
   Everyone was ready to tackle the exams.

4. Junior class chooses jewelry.
   They won't be outdone by the seniors. This is the first time students have chosen their jewelry in their junior year.

8-13. Exams.
   A busy week for everyone. School News work suspended until next week.

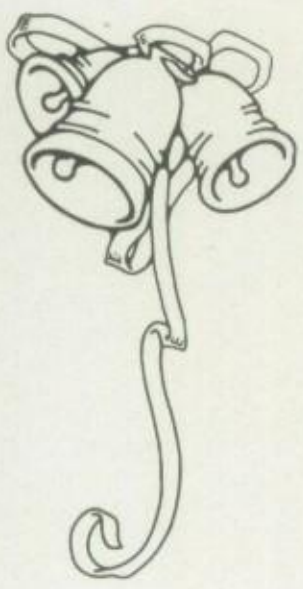
18. Old and New China brought to Central High.
   Mrs. Ewing made us see China through her experiences.

18. Meeting of Crimson Troupers.
   "No Sabe" presented to interested club members.

25. Thespian initiation.
   Congratulations to these busy students.

26. Quill and Scroll election.
   "The journalists are organizing."

31. Seniors reach 100 per cent in Comet drive.
   We knew you would, seniors. The other classes have shown a fine spirit of co-operation.



FEBRUARY

—Ah, bitter chill it was!
The owl, for all his feathers, was a-cold.
—Keats.

1. Unique assembly: A peep into 1984.
   Everyone wanted a Comet after this meeting.

2. Last home victory.
   Norwalk was our victim.

8. Thirteen new members initiated into Girl Reserves.
   An unlucky number, but lucky girls.

9. Charlotte Chamberlin, naturalist.
   She held us spellbound with her sunny scenes on a cold morning. This was quite appropriate, for the weatherman says this is the coldest winter in twenty-five years. The music was supplied by four Junior-High band members.

12. Sophomore party.
    Valentines, games, and dancing.

15. President Williams, of Bowling Green, addressed the student body.

15. Music Night.
    This performance by band, orchestra, and glee clubs gave us a real appreciation of music. The operetta, "Lady Frances," was a special feature.
    Though the group pictured below did not participate in this program, they have been very active this winter. They are the 1933-34 saxette group which was organized by Mr. Cummins. Saxette lessons show the young pupils whether or not they have musical ability and prepare them to go on to the study of band instruments.

22. Quill and Scroll initiation.
    Meet our future journalists.

28. Illustrated lecture on World's Fair.
    Mr. Bowser brought the Century of Progress to us.

MARCH

O Wind,
If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?
—Shelley.

1. Former resident takes us back fifty years.
   Professor Patterson, of Keokuk, Iowa, described the old Union school.

9. Bellevue students go to Galion.
   Members of Quill and Scroll initiated Galion's charter chapter and were delightfully entertained.

12. National Athletic Scholarship Society receives new members.
   Six seniors received this distinction.

13. National Honor Society members selected.
   Ten new members chosen for character, scholarship, leadership, and service. This brings the total to fifteen.

20. Merchant of Venice presented by Shakespearian actors.
   A fine performance. Even the local talent proved satisfactory.

21. Science Club meeting.
   This is a new organization in Bellevue High School. Enthusiastic scientists follow the leadership of Mr. Herbert Wolfe in planning club meetings. The following officers were selected to take charge of club affairs:
   President—Charles Tracy.
   Vice President—Edward Ryan.
   Secretary-Treasurer—Fritz Daenitz.
   Assistant—Francis Hunt.
   The club members are seen below.

22. Rev. Rundt addresses assembly.
   A bit of humor and sound advice.

23. Art exhibit and dance.
   Lovely pictures and good music. What a combination!

30. Pre-Easter thought given by Mrs. Henry.
   A few words for meditation—"Live and help live."

APRIL

Blossom by blossom the spring begins.
—Swinburne.

2. Junior Spring Frolic.
   The setting? A beautiful Japanese garden.
4. Crocodile Island, the Senior High operetta.
   May we congratulate Miss Barr and members of the cast for their splendid performance.
5. School closed for spring vacation.
   Even the seniors needed one.
10. School reopened.
    It's the last lap for the seniors.
12. Girl Reserve Mother-and-Daughter banquet.
    There were lumps in not a few throats as retiring officers installed the new ones.
13. Hi-Y Prom.
    One of the social highlights of the year. The boys deserve much credit for this peppy dance.
19. Dr. Shumaker addressed the assembly.
    He taught us what Chinese respect for parents really is. The music was provided by the Glee Club chorus.
20. Choral-Orchestra concert at Willard.
    Sixty Bellevue students participated in this musical event.
25. Senior play, "Shirt Sleeves."
    A splendid performance, but we knew it would be. Look back on page 63 for a picture of the cast.
26. Western Reserve students present play.
    One-act comedy, "Words Edgewise," presented by students of Adelbert College of Western Reserve University. The dean then talked to us.
27. Freshman party.
    They displayed their school spirit in their decorations.
28. The busses, their drivers, and their occupants all pose for the Comet photographer. These five busses cover many miles each day in bringing pupils from Sherman, Groton, and Lyme Townships to the Bellevue schools.

MAY

And the May month flaps its glad green leaves like wings,
Delicate filmed as new spun silk.

—Hardy.

3. Girl Reserve hike.
   They could no longer resist the urge to enjoy nature at her best.

4. Band Festival.
   Bellevue was host to the bands from Norwalk, Willard, Oberlin, and Port Clinton. The evening concert was followed by a dance. Professor Ross Hickernell of Dana's Institute of Music in Warren was the guest conductor.

8. Band program for grade students.
   The first six grades were honor guests and the high school was excluded.

11. Junior-Senior Reception.
   The day the upper-classmen have been anticipating. We danced and sang and played on the Planet Mars. Refreshments were served from a rocket ship to the tune of the trickling fountain.

15. Senior Comet Dance.
   The last dance sponsored by the seniors and a great success.

16. Awarding of track letters.
   Another athletic season has passed but for some the memory lingers on.

18. Recognition banquet.
   The school administration, the Kiwanis Club, and other friends joined to honor the members of the four honorary societies: National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, Thespians, and National Athletic Scholarship Society.

20. Baccalaureate.

MAJOR DISCONTENT vs. MR. MODERN EDUCATION

THE CLAIM

The plaintiff claims that Modern Education is unsatisfactory in that it is impractical, is too expensive, and does not provide for good citizenship.

THE COUNTERCLAIM

The defendant claims that Modern Education is not guilty of impracticability, undue expense, or failure to provide for good citizenship, but rather is doing a good job in training the boys and girls of today.

THE BELLEVUE TIMES

VOL. COD. BELLEVUE, OHIO, FEBRUARY 30, 1984. NUMBER 00

Mrs. Winterbottom Becomes Bride of Count Macharronni

WEDDING IS SMART SOCIAL EVENT OF SEASON PERFORMED IN FLOWER BANKED BALLROOM.

One of the social highlights of the season occurred yesterday when the merry widow, Mrs. Shirley M. Flicker Fuzzlewitz Winterbottom, was united in marriage with Count Heinrich de Macharronni of the house of Speghetti. The ceremony, performed by Rev. Wilbur Xanthus Meyers, took place in the flower-banked ballroom of Rolling-Pinn Inn near Dough City.

For her wedding gown, the buxom bride chose pink periwinkle velvet trimmed with orchid and green satin and gossamer black plush. She carried an arm bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and early spring rhubarb.

She was charmingly attended by the bridesmaids, Miss Monica Ruffing, resplendent in red satin with purple sweet peas, and Miss Freda Herrmann, gowned in green moire with bluebells. The groom was attended by his most intimate friend, Baron Charleslio Fehllio of Rome, Italy. Master Albert Tom carried the emerald ring on a yellow satin pillow. Miss Elnora Whitehead was the very petite flower-girl. She was garbed in fetching white angelskin, with purple harebells interlaced among her golden locks.

Immediately preceding the ceremony the couple entertained at the Fish Clubbe with a formal breakfast, and left at a late hour in their Mudd car for the end of the world. They will be at home to their friends after February thirtieth at 9999 Oyster Row, Clambake, England.

LOCAL MERCHANT HONORED ON 68th NATAL ANNIVERSARY

Mr. Adelbert Hasselbach, Sr., owner of our local Pinko Dime store, was pleasantly surprised last evening by an informal gathering of his boyhood friends. The occasion was his sixty-eighth natal anniversary. Those present from out-of-town included: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Paul, who flew up on the early morning Zeppelin from Rio de Janiero; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farr, who arrived on the Boxer Triplane from Los Angeles; and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sliter, of Spigotville, Montana. After a pleasant dinner the guests retired to the loungette, where Mrs. Hasselbach presided over coffee and pinochleo. The honored host received many useless gifts.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Terhune, of Bellevue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia, to Bobby Williams, Jr., son of the popular screen star, Robert Williams. The wedding will take place in early July.

LOST: One Ford Model T. Please return to Malcolm Williams, or bust!

Bellevue Man Is Appointed Chief of Extreme Court

ANTICIPATED HONOR RECEIVED TODAY BY POPULAR BACHELOR ATTORNEY.

Honorable William Aigler, Sr., of this city, today received notice of his long anticipated appointment to the chair of Chief Justice of the Extreme Court, Washington, D. C. This popular bachelor is hoping to find his long-looked-for "Red Head" in the capitol city.

B. H. S. Defeats Sandusky 200 - 0 in Runaway Game

FORTY-NINTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY OVER ANCIENT RIVAL—SON OF FORMER PLAYER HERO.

True to tradition, our mighty high school basketball squadrette defeated our small northern neighbor, Sandusky, by the usual score—200-0. As this is the forty-ninth consecutive year for this town's defeat at the hands of Bellevue players, the event has become an accepted fact in all good athletic circles. Naturally, however, since our fair city has held the world championship in this same sport for the past twenty years, it becomes apparent that Sandusky could never even entertain the slightest thought of winning such a meet, although they were somewhat in the game.

The star of the evening in every way was little Alfonso Zechman. Old-timers tell us that his father played basketball fifty years ago. Alfonso is a chip off the old block! Vive la Bellevue!

FOUND: A startling new way to dance. Students will learn easily by enrolling in class. Address Sir Gordon Gilbert, Dept. O, Applesauce, Mich.

WANTED: Two slightly used radio tubes for chicken incubator. Must be cheap. Notify David Cramer, corner Spinach and Turnip streets.

LOST: One handkerchief, purple with green spots. Reward of 5c if returned to Robert Phillips, Esq., Burdock Avenue.

THE WEATHER

Fair or rain. Warmer or colder in south or west.

Styles of '34 Reviewed Before Large Audience

MODELS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO ARE DISPLAYED—DUCHESS POWDERPUFF PRESENT.

A fashion show of the styles of long past 1934 was presented in the Municipal Radiotorium last evening before a capacity audience. The models wore gowns and outfits which apparently were the "rage" fifty years ago.

Duchess Powderpuff of Paris, who arrived on the 8:15 Zeppelin, looked very dashing in a '34 swagger suit of grey tweed. She wore a grey turban of silk faille and grey suede oxfords. The Duchess was the former Miss Marguerite Christman of this city, and the antiquated outfit is one from among her very daring collection of '34 fashions.

Mrs. Oscar Featherpelt next presented what the well-dressed girl of '34 wore for school—a fetching jumper of blue wool with brilliant red plaid blouse and "balloon" sleeves. Mrs. Featherpelt was formerly Miss Joan Bruell of Bellevue.

An ankle-length gown of rose crepe with white satin collar and bows was offered as an afternoon fashion by Lady Harold Heartbreaker of Fifth Avenue, New York Station. Lady Heartbreaker was the former Peggy Yingling, a well-known home-town girl.

A social teaette and dancelogue followed, after which the guests departed in their Austins and Triplanes for nearby residences.

Woleslagel Family Enroute to Konghong

TAKES OVER NEW DUTIES AS SUPERINTENDENT OF PING-PONG RESTAURANT.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Woleslagel left yesterday morning in their 1984 Zeppelin for Konghong, Bulgaria, where Mr.

Woleslagel will take over his new duties as general superintendent of the Ping-Pong Restaurant. The twelve children of Mr. and Mrs. Woleslagel will join their parents next week.

FOUND: A number of small green pencils. Owner may claim same by identifying as to color. Call Mr. Eldon Burgess at Elmer's Dairy between the hours of 3 and 4 A. M.

A PEEP INTO THE PAST - 1884

50 YEARS AGO B. H. S. OFFERED A THREE YEAR HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

Looking through the old school records of fifty years ago we find that although education still wore a pinafore in 1884, it was beginning to affect very grown-up manners. In Bellevue there was a three-year high school. The classes were called junior, middle, and senior, and all were conducted in one room.

GRADUATING CLASS OF 50 YEARS AGO

The graduating class of 1884 consisted of four members: A. B. Leinbaugh, Emma Sandmeister, Adria Wise, and Claude Wyant. It chose as its motto, "Vide et Crede." This class was considered small, for a preceding class had had nine members, and the following class had thirteen.

SCHOOL BOARD OF 1884

Three members of the school board fifty years ago would be interested to know that they have relatives connected with the school in 1934. The Board of Education was composed of six members: E. M. Wolf, grandfather of Miss Rachel Adeline Wolf, was president; the treasurer was Fred Wolfrom, a great-uncle of William Aigler; J. H. Weber was clerk. The other members were David Moore, David Ailer, and E. G. Woleslagel, grandfather of Abbott Woleslagel.

SCHOOL CURRICULUM OF 50 YEARS PAST

In the high school the courses offered were: algebra, physical geography, general history, Latin, German, reading, writing, and spelling in the junior year; geometry, physiology, natural philosophy, Latin, German, reading, writing, and spelling in the middle year; in the senior year trigonometry, review of mathematics, Latin, German, reading, writing, and spelling.

THE GRADE SCHOOLS

The primary schools consisted of the first four grades; the fifth to the eighth comprised the grammar schools.

GERMAN DEPARTMENT

There was also a German department, which permitted grade school children to study German one period each day.

A LETTER FROM 1884 TO 1934 AND 1984:

We who were numbered among the high-school pupils of 1884 send greetings to you who are of 1934 and to those of you who are to be in 1984.

In the evolution of the world and the development of man a hundred years is but a moment of time. But in a man's life even fifty years is a long time. Few periods in the history of the world have witnessed such significant events or greater changes than have the past fifty years. This is true in every field of human interest and particularly so in education.

Fifty years ago one room accommodated all the pupils of the Bellevue High School. This room was in the Central Building located near the site of the present high school. This housed all the grades from primary up except two or three grades which occupied the Pike School building on West Main street. For many years Mr. James Greenslade was the superintendent, but during our high school days he resigned and was succeeded by Mr. A. E. Gladding. Classes recited to Miss Kelly in the front of the high-school room while others studied, or were supposed to study, in their seats. A few classes met in the office of the superintendent and were conducted by him. The curriculum was very limited. Those who desired to go to college found it necessary to spend a year or two in some preparatory school.

There were no inter-scholastic games. Our athletics were limited to fifteen minutes of baseball played at recess in the morning and afternoon. Football was practically unknown to us. A gymnasium for a high school had hardly been thought of. Manual Training and Domestic Science courses were taught by father and mother between the hours of four and eight a. m. and four and six p. m.

There was some rivalry between the different sections of the school organized for the purpose of presenting literary programs each Friday afternoon. School dances—there were none. Those who desired to indulge in wild life would roller skate at the large rink on West Main street or organize their own dancing parties. However, there were many pleasant social occasions in connection with school life and I dare say we enjoyed life in the "horse and buggy" age just as fully as do the boys and girls of the "airplane" and "terraplane" age.

The whole aim and purpose of education is to enrich life. Buildings and equipment cannot educate us. In the last analysis what one gains from a high school depends upon what one puts into it. So carry on the good work in the Bellevue High School.

A FRESHMAN PARTY THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

"What a heavenly day this has been," said one of two exhausted freshmen, nibbling a Kern-el of popcorn. "I have never eaten such delicious food for the Price paid."

"I believe everyone ate until he was Oehling," replied the other.

"Who could keep from eating? Such a Cunning-ham, all nice and Brown, Ry-an white bread sandwiches, and tender Pasquale celery? I am glad we had a Baker and a Cook to prepare the food and Dole out the Grubb."

YOUTHFUL JOLLITY

"We certainly had to go Farr but that was all-Wright because some went on a Green-slade and others with a Wagner."

"The dog with us was a loud Barker. We couldn't Sliter when we passed the food around. What a fight she had with that Thomas cat which finally ran on the Wood-ruff of a chicken Coop-er."

"When we reached our destination some sat on a Stump or took a Knapp under the Shadle of a tree."

"Maybe you did, but some of the ambitious ones were never Idle. Some played Ball; Rodman and Rodgers went fishing and caught a Troutwine, and others went Ahn to a Wood. They saw a Koon in a tree Waych-off in the distance. One of the boys almost Strecker with a stone but Miss-ler. It frightened her so that she Gfell out of the tree and looked very unKempt."

"Wasn't it funny how we were all Able to go Hom-an go to bed after such an exciting day?"

DO YOU REMEMBER:

When—"Parson Bill" Aigler gave "Miss Willard" a sham burial at a Friday pep-meeting only to have her regenerated by the next day to help down Bellevue?

When—"Bud" Weber kicked off his heel two consecutive mornings in the same place and manner?

When—We came to school to find the faces of all the clocks covered with signs urging us to buy one of these Comets?

When—Ardyth Kern froze her "proboscus" on the way to school one of the coldest days of the winter?

When—Marguerite Seip came to school wearing a black eye and pleading off with the old "door gag"?

When—the basketball team's picture was given headlines in the Plain Dealer sport section?

When—Miss Reitz made a "comeback" by substituting for Miss Wolf?

When—a dog visited the study hall?

FINIS

With heavy hearts, with lagging steps,
We take our leave of you who soon will follow;
Many the days, happy the hours
We spent together. May you ever
Think of us with deepest thoughts of glad recall.

To you to whom we dedicate this annual
We hope we have accomplished our Intended purpose. Judge not too strictly
Nor by standards harsh for us to whom the years
Had scarcely yet revealed the facts and truths which you possess;
Rather with kindly tol'rance glean some hope,
Some "drive" to spur you on to great endeavors.

To you of present or of future
We leave this message: Drive on, through
Difficulties fast and thick, drive on! Keep ever
Your ambition fixed upon that distant star!
